NOTHING could be more desirable than to see a game like that, ex cept to something worth while your self ever so little

THERE are limits, it seems, to New York's pledging The mayor of New York orders police to prosecute those that have been selling poisoned alcohol sometimes called smoke to make drunkards in him speak easies

THE number killed by poisonous whisky in New York since last Sunday has risen to twenty six

With a hundred policemen are investigating and have closed 40 speakeasies and have closed 40 of them leaving, according to police estimates about 21 960 still open

When our government starts to make alcohol unfit for human consumption it succeed

THE supreme court decides that Canadians may cross the border to work on jobs here and go back in the evening needing no passport

The highest court having spoken, that settles that, and everybody will be glad to see our Canadian friends visited in a brotherly spirit

BUT complications may arise Labor being high wages in the United States spending it in Canada for anything you choose including good cheap beer may prove a temptation Americans might move across the border to live cut drink and pay low rents there while earning their money on this side

THE American Association for the Advancement of Atheism demands a high powered radio station in New York and does not get it, although the easiest way to make an atheist ridiculous is to let him talk

It is hard to understand how anybody could talk atheism knowing that his voice propelled by a power he can't comprehension, travels around the world through the mysterious ether

ATHEISTS young ones especially might meditate on one of Bacon's collected apothegms

Simonides being asked of Hiero what he thought of God" asked a seven nights' time to consider of it and at the seven nights end he bed a fortnight's time, at the fortnight's end a month At which Hiero marveling Simonides answered that the longer he thought upon the matter the more difficult he found it"

The more glibly you answer Hiero's question the less you know

"ZEP" IS DELAYED

Weather Too Stormy for Big Ship to Try Ocean Flight

Friedrichshafen Oct 10—This was an idle day for the super-dirigible, Graf (Count) Zeppelin, and the meteorological charts showed the weather to be so stormy over the Atlantic that it appeared unlikely that the greatness would leave on the voyage to the United States before Friday

Dr Hugo Eckener, designer of the Graf and director of the Zeppelin works, said that the Atlantic weather was showing little improvement He had hoped to get away today but the weather news during the forenoon made the prospects for today seem doubtful

A little ground fog was blowing over Lake Constance, the Zeppelin home port, a local flight,

WOMEN'S CLUB IDEALS LISTED BY STATE HEAD

Community Upbuilding Urged by Mrs. Harder at Federation Meeting

IS GUEST OF HONOR

Entertained at Opening Event of Season Held at Hotel Harding

Upbuilding of the community life of America with special emphasis on the cultural and spiritual life, and a program making for good citizenship were pointed out as the highest ideals of club work by Mrs W N Harder, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in a talk last night before members of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs in the ballroom at Hotel Harding

The meeting marked the opening of the federation work here for the year 1928 and also honored Mrs Harder, whose talk marked her first meeting with the local organization as president of the state federation A delightful informal reception for the honor guest was held on the mezzanine floor following the program and later refreshments were served in the ball room

Program Given

Preceding Mrs Harder's talk Mrs E N Hale sang a charming group of songs accompanied at the piano by Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence Mrs Hale's numbers were 'Going Home' Dvorak 'Slave Song' Teresa del Riego and 'Birth of Morn,' Franco Leoni

Preceding the program, Superintendent Jesse H Mason gave a short talk on the school situation in Marion and illustrated his talk with stereopticon slides Mrs John McNamara, president of the group presided and during a short business session announced Mrs B M Sager as health chairman for the year

Mrs Harder presented three angles of club work showing the limitless influence of women's communities, national and international activities and chose for her subject, 'Scope of the State Federation' She drew her illustrations from various walks of club life and stressed the accomplishments achieved through leadership and co operation Mrs Harder urged the women to exercise their right to vote and to be able to vote intelligently on any subject

Design as Service

'If we as club women are inculcating ideas we are doing the greatest thing in the world' Mrs Harder stated Our first objective should be to use our ability toward being a conscientious, capable citizen Good citizenship and every woman an intelligent voter is the slogan of our organization this year

Mrs Harder discussed woman's influence in the promotion of world peace and deemed the club women were ready and want to look toward a way to end war, if that they also want to know of a means

Mrs Homer R Waddell, social chairman of the federation, with the social chairmen of the 22 federated clubs presided for the social hour The rooms were decorated with baskets and bowls of colorful fall flowers

PERFECT SELF, U. S. ADVISED

President Addresses Convention of Protestant Episcopal Church at Capital

Washington Oct 10—The greatest service America can perform for the rest of the world is to perfect her own moral progress, President Coolidge said today in addressing the opening session of the forty ninth triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church at the Washington cathedral

'If the bonds of our religious connections become loosened' the president declared the guarantees which have been erected for the protection of life and liberty and all the vast body of rights that lie between are gone

'We can not doubt that the world is growing better he said

'But because we have made a very large progress because we are confident that we are going in the right direction is no reason for failing to comprehend the enormous work that yet remains to be performed and the long distance that must still be traveled before the goal of human perfection is reached As we look over the world we see that there are almost whole continents in some areas still to be reached and large masses of people everywhere still to be given the advantage of modern civilization

Cites Youth Problem

'While it is well for us to look abroad and carry to other people a knowledge of our faith, we should not forget that our success in that direction will be largely measured by what we do at home

'The light which we shed for others will depend upon the intensity of the flame which we create for ourselves The ability to help others to see comes from the clearness of our own vision The greatest service that we can possibly perform for the world is to perfect our own moral progress If we can do that we need have no fear con-

HOMES TO GET VOTE APPEAL

Local Organizations To Remind Citizens of Registration Duty

When housewives go to their door steps Thursday morning to get their bottle of milk they will be reminded that all persons in the city who expect to vote Nov 6 must register

Through the cooperation of local dairy operators the Junior Chamber of Commerce is placing specially prepared caps on all milk bottles with the exception of those of one dairy, distributed in the city Thursday morning

The bottle caps will bear this plea Vote as you please, but REMEMBER AND VOTE' Assisting the Junior Chamber in the campaign to get Marion voters to the polls to register are Bird McClintock Post of the American Legion and the Marion Central Labor Union

Registration Thursday

All voting places in the city will be open Thursday for registration of voters Since the state law requires a general registration preceding presidential elections all persons who expect to vote Nov 6 must register The polls will be open from 8 until 2 and from 4 until 9 o'clock

Election Board and Republican and Democratic headquarters are sending out plans to the Marion electorate to register Thursday

On the first day of registration Oct 4, 3 658 persons made themselves eligible to vote on election day While no comparison can be made with figures for the first day four years ago the turnout last week is considered good by A W Kelly, clerk of the county board of elections Indications are, he said today, that registration this year will be the greatest in the history of the city

58 Ballots Cast

Twenty six precincts have voted or have requested absent voters ballots since the books were opened to voting by this method last Monday Ballots for absent voting may be cast at election board headquarters or will be mailed from there until Nov 5 All ballots however, must be returned to headquarters by election day Those received after Nov 6 will not be counted

The 'get out the vote' campaign conducted by the three organizations of the city is entirely non partisan and is being staged solely for the purpose of getting Marion voters to register Thursday and vote Nov 6

Winter

700 Housewives at Star School

Ahead

CLIMAXING the summer's round of activities The Star's fourth annual cooking school, which opened yesterday, served, in a sense to prepare Marion housewives for the winter ahead—when much of her time will be spent in the kitchen preparing new dishes for the cold winter evening dinner.

Mrs Lida Rigg Crabtree, the food expert in charge of the school, presented in her lecture yesterday several palatable new dishes, and—what is no doubt of value—a large number of practical housewife methods and modern kitchen ideas which will aid in eliminating the monotony of housework

THE Star auditorium where the lectures are being presented Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week was filled almost to capacity for the program yesterday, attendance totaling about 700 Filled too, was the nursery at the rear of the auditorium where 70 children were kept happy and contented during the school session

Mrs Crabtree chose as the subject of her lecture yesterday "Mind Your Business"— your business being home making

"The real test of character of any woman" Mrs Crabtree said in her introduction "is how she meets the business at hand be what it may Much of the success of the nation depends on homes from which the workers of many homes live and the foundations of those homes—they are the arts required to adjudicate to the mental, physical and spiritual needs

BEFORE beginning her talk on cooking and practical demonstration of nine appetizing dishes, Mrs. Crabtree outlined her remarks to the home in general and the practical methods by which women may add to its beauty and comfort at the same time increasing its interest to the most commonplace household tasks

During the demonstration she introduced her own recipes for the following dishes ginger bread, ginger bread sauce after dinner jelly mints, snowballs, orange or apple chiffonade, ham and raisin salad, slaw, in a salad bowl that grows" and in all, The various dishes prepared during the talk, as well as several large market baskets of kitchen provisions, were later distributed among the women Printed copies of different recipes were also given the guests

The recipes Mrs Crabtree presented yesterday and will lecture

SHREVEPORT MAN IS LEADING FOR OFFICE

Southerner Certain of National Commander Post of Legion

San Antonio Tex, Oct 10—John Ewing, of Shreveport, La, today was believed leading the field in the race for national commander of the American Legion for the coming year. Caucuses by state delegations Tuesday night, from which newspapermen were barred, were understood to have shown a trend toward the Louisianan after Roy Hoffman, of Oklahoma, had shown great preconvention strength. The consensus of opinion today seemed to indicate that whether Ewing is successful or not, some southerner will be chosen national commander.

POLITICAL CLINIC HELD BY SMITH

Governor Will Be in Virginia and North Carolina Thursday

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

New York, Oct 10—Governor Smith presided over a political clinic here today before setting out to pose trate Dixie and the politically skittish states that border it on the north

From early morning there was a stream of Democratic leaders in and out of the Smith suite in Hotel Biltmore, the only New York home the governor has any more Most of them came to cheer And there were some who came merely to 'see Al' and to observe what if any change there has been in him since his recent intimate contact with the wide open spaces of the corn and wheat country

Tomorrow Governor Smith will be in Virginia and North Carolina. Friday he will be in Tennessee, and Saturday will be a spent in Kentucky, While none of his advisers pretend to believe that there was any chance of his losing Virginia, or, in fact, North Carolina, some of his most important counsellors urged that he not spend an entire day in Tennessee, reckoning as it undoubtedly is with the religious and prohibition issues, without saying a few words to the crowds in Chattanooga and Nashville.

Ten-Story Office Building and Newspaper Plant Going Up

New York Oct 10—The Atlantic Garden on the Bowery, which for more than half a century enjoyed an international reputation as the largest beer garden in this country is going to be torn down and in its place erected a modern ten story office building and newspaper plant

It was a great place the Atlantic Garden known the world over It was the rendezvous of famous men—actors managers politicians business and professional men—as well as the rank and file of the public Anybody could go there with a dollar and have a grand old time and have the law of the land look the other way

Politics Discussed

Presidents judges governors and other office holders have been known for the rising generation of former It was a meeting place for many newspaper men and actors There one rubbed elbows with the stage luminaries as Joe Dees Joe Jim Poth Thomas W Ross and others who played the Bowery Theater a stone's throw away Mingers such as Keith and Proctor and Reid and Wallack met in the garden to sum up new stars

The place had a cosmopolitan, old world country German atmosphere The garden was decorated with real trees the last to be found on the Bowery In between the shrubbery and hanging vines were

The old Atlantic Garden has featured as entertainers some of the best known actors and actresses in the world Joe Welch got his start there So did Emma Carus Corn Rout, Billie Parrell Eddie Leslie Harry la Claire and Annie Hart It was quite a novelty years ago when a women orchestra of 25 players and a woman conductor were introduced That idea went over in a big way The first orchestra that ever played in the place was imported from Germany and purchased from the Duke of Baden Boxcicles were constantly introduced many from abroad Germans and Tyrolian singers and players appeared frequently, and such names as Lenny Hart, Fred Lewdller Anna Seebold Marie Geistinger and many others often graced the programme Die Meininger a troupe of 50 players was a long remembered feature

"You're 100% Right"

DAN BRENNAN, Traffic "Cop" on World's Busiest Corner in Chicago, says

"I DON'T know how you get it," says 'Dan'. "But it's there—that old time peppermint flavor that made my mouth water as a kid It's no soft job to keep traffic moving in all sorts of weather—but when I feel 'down in the mouth' I get a package of Baby Ruth Gum Somehow that old time flavor puts a kick back in me—you're 100% right!"

"It's Got That Old-Time Peppermint Flavor That Made My Mouth Water As a Kid"

You'll Like It, Too

The makers of Baby Ruth Candy Bar have set out to give you a fine gum—a better gum—equal in quality to Baby Ruth Candy—a new thrill to the nation's sweet tooth

The flavor is that Old-Time Peppermint Flavor you remember as a kid—the coolest, most mouth-watering flavor in the world. A flavor that costs $6 a pound to buy. and that makes this the most costly gum in America today to make.

BUT—Baby Ruth is a gum like you have never tasted before. Everybody is changing to it. Try it. The biggest five cents worth of fun the country has ever seen

R. C. Randall Advanced by Erie, Third Promotion Received in Two Years

Marion Man Appointed Assistant Superintendent of New York Terminal Division; Third from Here Named for Important Positions There

Randall former Marion boy has had a rapid rise in railroading, with advancement from general yardmaster at Hammond, Ind. to assistant superintendent of the terminal division and then to assistant superintendent of the same division. He was holding the latter position at Chicago when advanced to assistant superintendent of the New York terminal.

He is now in charge of the new territory and is preparing to establish a residence in Jersey City. Mrs. Randall and children are visiting relatives and friends in Marion previatory to moving to Jersey City. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rafferty, North Oak st. The Randalls home has been in Hammond, Ind., during the last eight years.

Randall began his service with the Erie in Marion about 20 years ago, starting as a yard clerk. He advanced steadily, finally becoming general yardmaster here. Eight years ago he was transferred to Hammond as yardmaster.

He is the third Marion man to be assigned to important work with the Erie on the New York division. John M. Condon former general yardmaster here, is now general manager of the Erie's eastern section, and Dan Cole, former assistant yardmaster here, is a trainmaster in the New York terminal division.

CHANCE IS "SLIM"

Hickman Not Likely To Obtain Executive Clemency

Sacramento Oct. 10—William Edward Hickman Los Angeles slayer condemned to the San Quentin gallows Oct. 19 stands little chance of obtaining executive clemency, according to opinion expressed by Keith Carlin, Gov. C. C. Young's executive secretary.

"Governor Young will of course give careful consideration to any clemency application presented in behalf of Hickman," said Carlin. "Knowing the case as I do I can conceive of nothing, in the way of a clemency appeal that would move the governor to grant Hickman either commutation or reprieve."

HOOVER PLANS HIS NEW YORK SPEECH

Address Will Be Nominee's Big Effort To Win Empire State

BY WILLIAM B HUTCHINSON
Marion Star Staff Correspondent

Washington Oct 10—Believing his campaign on the importation of the [illegible] $100 000 000 Muscle Shoals project Herbert Hoover will [illegible] his attention today to plans for his speech in New York City Oct [illegible]

This address will be the first [illegible] effort to win the Empire State away from Governor Al Smith but the speech will be prepared carefully It was learned at his headquarters that Hoover can properly [illegible] economy and asserts he will be the keynote of the speech

Hoover reasserts and stands by his position as explained by one of his advisers as follows

First Hoover believes in private operation of all utilities in the ground that the government should not compete in business with its citizens second that an exception must be made in the case of Muscle Shoals because it is owned by the government

Third he will favor use of the project as far as is necessary for the manufacture of fertilizer as I research work for agriculture

Fourth he favors sale of the surplus power to a private distributing company

Rate Treatment

Fifth in any sale of power he will require terms not only safeguarding the government but its [illegible] against [illegible] treatment of the consumer possible by the lessee

[illegible] he will [illegible] suppose a lease [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] agricultural experiments [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and the [illegible] interests were protected

Here [illegible] he will [illegible] operation of the project if [illegible] organized to make fair offers for the huge project

SIXTH ROAD BOUGHT BY VAN SWERINGENS

Cleveland Men Take Over Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway

Cleveland Oct 10—An [illegible] line—the sixth—has been added to the chain of railroads controlled by O P and M J Van Sweringen Cleveland railroad magnates it became known here today

The Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburgh railway has been taken over by the Van Sweringens as the result of a deal that was completed here yesterday in New York it was announced here The Cleveland magnates acquired 60 per cent of the road's common stock and have offered to buy the remaining 1 650 shares at $100 per share If they are deposited with A Iselin & Co in New York before Dec 10

The road gives the Van Sweringens an important tap on Lake Erie coal and other freight business The B R & P runs through western Pennsylvania and forms a link to Buffalo and Rochester

Total 10,000 Miles

With today new acquisition the holdings of the Van Sweringen brothers now total almost 10 000 miles of railway The northern terminals of the B R & P are on Lake Erie and Lake Ontario and it is one of the most important coal routes between American mines and Canada A car ferry which it operates between Charlotte N Y and Cobourg Ont is one of the most important freight links between the two countries

The purchase was made through the New York investment houses of A Iselin & Co and Roosevelt & Son The controllers of the latter concern are relatives of the late Theodore Roosevelt and Franklin D Roosevelt

Buy as Individuals

The stocks is understood to have been bought at a private sale from the Iselin and Roosevelt families and the transaction was kept strictly secret until it was officially announced here last night

The Van Sweringens bought the road as individuals and the sale thus did not require the approval of the Interstate commerce commission If they consolidate it with any of their other roads however they must obtain permission from the commission It is considered likely that the road will be linked with at least two of their others the Erie at the Nickel Plate immediately in order to furnish new freight routes between Cleveland and Pittsburgh

Times switch flight is caused by the slight of a promissory note

Meditations
OF A
Married Woman
BY HELEN ROWLAND

SAYS OF MRS SOLOMON

My daughter by the light of the harvest moon many things are made clear For by that time, do a man and a damsel know in their hearts whether the romance born of April sunsets and June moons is going to take or not

Getting ready for a damsel to be fair and for a man to be gallant by flamelight But the acid test of a romance is a man and a woman's chorus is the good old Midsummer time!

Midsummer—when powder runneth to paste and rouge runneth down the cheek so that a man may spy a woman's real complexion and judge how she will start the cold north light of a Winter morning

When a woman may note how her hitherto patriarch without a collar and decide whether the Lord or his tailor is responsible for his slender figure

When a man may watch a damsel swim and discern how good a sport she is and how much she oweth to Nature and how much to her modiste

Or may take her camping and judge how good a cook how good a scout and how good a pal she would make in a marital marathon

When a damsel may note just how delightful or how fastidious a man is around a Summer bungalow and just how feeyish he would be if the meals got into the pudding

And a man may take a damsel for a canoe and observe how long she can KEEP SITTING at one time

And when Midsummer is the dance season when a man and a maid discover whether 12 hours together seem like a long long day or like a brief and glamorous interlude!

When a damsel may find out just how susceptible a man is to moonlight scented silence soft music and OLIVE WOMEN and learn whether or not she could trust him for all the Summers to come—and just now BE

And when a man may judge whether or not a woman's kisses repay him for the exertion of catching the one-fifteen on a hot Saturday afternoon when all the roof gardens are calling in his ears

Verily verily the Springtime is full of elections and false promises but good old Summertime telleth no LIES

All the Color Day a wise woman knoweth whether or not to order the roses and a man knoweth when or not to buy the platinum for the Midsummer sun and moon May moon is the safest guide

CONCENTRATE ON BIGOTRY ATTACKS

Mrs. Ross Sounds Keynote in Drive Over Radio Hookup

New York Oct 10 — Convinced that their smashing attack on religious bigotry is netting Smith votes in virtually every state the Democratic campaign managers have decided upon an intensification of that line of campaign right up to election day

The keynote of the new emphasis sounded today by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross vice chairman of the national committee over a nationwide radio hook up she abandoned the old defensive strategy with which Governor Smith himself launched the anti bigotry campaign in his Oklahoma City speech 10 days ago

"Now the Democratic party, founded by Thomas Jefferson the greatest American sponsor of religious liberty has taken to himself the glory of being the first in this nation she said to say to the electorate that it stands or falls rendering unqualified allegiance to the basic principle of religious freedom

After 140 years of national life we should elect a well qualified Catholic to the presidency to answer for all time the question whether in this Democracy a Catholic is eligible to all the privileges of citizenship

This positive appeal for Smith support directly on religious grounds marks the definite shift of the religious issue strategy from the defensive to the offensive procedure, to members of the national advisory committee A newspaper advertising campaign to the last 10 days of the Smith Robinson drive throughout the east and middle west will be devoted exclusively to citing samples of the underground pamphlet attack on Governor Smith

Copy layouts for this campaign, already prepared in national headquarters, carry reproductions from several local publications of the Ku Klux Klan in various sections of the country as well as anonymous leaflets

Cream Filled Gingerbread

It seems funny to have to dress up this the oldest known cake to heighten its appeal This is how it is done Cream together a generous half cupful each of butter and sugar when blended add the beaten yolks of two large eggs and a half cupful of molasses, a level saltspoonful of salt and a half cupful hot water added slowly while sifting in one and a quarter cupfuls of flour in which a teaspoonful of baking soda and a level teaspoonful of ginger have been mixed Beat all smooth then add a half cupful of chopped nuts and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs The batter should be rather thin and baked slowly in a buttered rectangular pan When done split hot with a sharp knife fill, cover and top with whipped cream sweetened and flavored Take two packages of cream cheese and mash to the consistency of a spread filling by the addition of sweet cream Add a saltspoonful of salt a cupful of chopped nuts and two cupfuls of chopped dates a small grating of nutmeg and a teaspoonful of vanilla Serve hot

Up to Date Jelly Roll

Beat three eggs light, add gradually a cupful of sugar a tablespoonful of milk a level saltspoonful of salt a tablespoonful of melted butter a teaspoonful of baking powder sifted into a cupful of flour Cover the bottom of a dripping pan with a buttered paper and butter the sides of the tin turn in the cake and smooth it evenly Bake twelve minutes in a moderate oven Have ready a cupful and a half of whipped cream whipped dry, sweetened with powdered sugar, a few spoonful of vanilla and a heaping tablespoonful of finely chopped nuts Turn the cake out on a smooth damp cloth spread quickly with a little thin jelly then the cream and roll rapidly The crust of the sides and ends should be trimmed off with a sharp knife before spreading Roll the cake in wax paper to hold its shape until cold Unwrap and dust with powdered sugar

Sponge Layer Cake

Break one dozen eggs into a yellow mixing bowl without separating them and to them two cupfuls of sifted powdered sugar, set the bowl in a pan of water at boiling point and beat with an egg beater for a half hour steadily The water in the pan must be kept at boiling point Remove from the fire and stir in juice of a lemon and one cupful of sifted flour, pour into three buttered layer pans and bake twenty minutes in a split Invert the pans to cool then lay up the cake with a soft lemon frosting

A FEW of the simple but important suggestions Mrs Crabtree made for Marion housewives during her talk yesterday, included the following

Always use standardized measuring implements for these things Also you cooking insurance

Always sift flour at least once before measuring for it is just such little things that count in cooking

Use your broiler for more meat cooking and broil with your oven door open Thick steaks are preferable to the larger, flatter ones

Cultivate the habit of adding to the attractiveness of your dishes with trimmings Green or white dishes specially need a dash of color—paprika or parsley

If plain milk is offensive to your family add one half teaspoon of vanilla and a little sugar—or a teaspoonful of plain gelatine

BLIND WAR VETERAN ADDRESSES LEGION

Maj Georges Scapini Receives Enthusiastic Ovation at Convention

San Antonio Texas Oct 10—His great parade of Tuesday a matter of history, the tenth annual national convention of the American Legion opened its second business session in the municipal auditorium today His thousands guests not heard on Monday were slated to deliver addresses

Maj Georges Scapini, blind veteran of the World war was given one of the most enthusiastic ovations of the convention when he advanced to bring the greetings of the French veterans of the World war Scapini, president of the Union of War Blind of France and one of the leading barristers of Paris after delivering messages from his own and other French veterans organizations as well as a personal greeting from General Gouraud of France, paid tribute to the legion unstintedly

F Trubee Davison assistant secretary of war for the air corps who followed Scapini, told the delegates the legion has been an important factor in the development of aviation He pointed out that only a short time ago the American people suffered from an intolerably complex in regard to flying Lindbergh's flight to Paris Davison said "changed the situation Other flights followed rapidly and American pilots and equipment demonstrated they had no superiors anywhere

AMAZING VARIETY ON FALL MARKETS

Brilliant Coloring of Fruits and Vegetables Attracts Passersby

Drawn by the brilliant coloring of the fall market stalls one is amazed by the remarkable variety of both fruits and vegetables Off the passer by stop to think what might have occurred if some of the things had not been nipped in the bud they would be still more amazed Take for instance the cauliflower the aristocrat of the cabbage family, It would have been an immense flower if it had been allowed to bloom And it would have justified Dr Johnson's comment that it was the "finest flower in the garden"

The French artichoke belongs to the thistle family and when unmolested turbed blossoms into a lovely purple thistle dignified but unapproachable Instead it is picked when a bud plunged into boiling water and devoured with most delectable sauce, leaf by leaf

Chinese Fat Bulbs

The Chinese prepare in most attractive fashion both lily and tulip bulbs and calmly eat them without any compunction or thought of the lovely flowers they would have developed into The current vain introduced to the English table by Queen Elizabeth Not only was it extolled for its virtues as a vegetable but its feathery foliage became fashionable on corsage bouquets and headdress embellishment

Asparagus was originally a pheasant wild plant and its feathery foliage and red berries were used for decorative purposes until the stalks were discovered to be most excellent eating The stalks were smaller than the cultivated product that we are familiar with in modern markets At Kenmore Cove Cornwall England there is a small rocky island called Asparagus Island for there the first effort was made at its cultivation

Our own white table celery used to grow wild in ditches and ditches where it was known by the indigent name of Smallage or Smallage and its variegated green leaves appeared in country bouquets

The scarlet runners of French descent refuse to be thwarted in the course of nature and give us not only scarlet blossoms but string beans as well The foliage of the best varieties in the most highly colored in the vegetable garden and is prized for salad decorations and other garnishes

Origin of Spinach

Spinach is a native of Tartary and graced the flower gardens of that country long before its food value was discovered The tassels of the corn are famous in history and were frequently used with wild flowers for Indian bouquets Peablossoms have become famous in poem and song but peas so quickly one hardly has time to get acquainted with them In fact, the daintiness of vegetable blossoms equals in many instances that of the more ordinary orchids, Those of the tubers and ground runners develop in the cup-shaped flowers, delicate in coloring and attractive in marking While those of the plants and herbs send up flower stalks or spikes many of them of dainty coloring and sweet fragrance Almost all the herb blossoms are dainty and have a sweet fragrance that is different from the fragrance of the leaves that are eventually dried for savory cooking use

The pumpkin blossom is very attractive and figures in the candy made by North American Indians with maple syrup

"Fight Game Has Been Good To Me" Jack Dempsey States in Interview

BY JAMES L KILGALLEN
(Copyright 1928 by International News Service)

New York Oct 10— The fight game has been good to me it has put me where I am today For a chap of 33 I'm not bad off

I'm through as a fighter I may have a real good fight or two in my system but I'm not taking any chances No cutting paper dolls for Jack Dempsey I'm not going to try to come back

I'm proud of the friends I've made in the fight game and I hope I'll always be able to come back before the public and say hello' and that they will counter with a good old hello Jack'

Jack Dempsey is talking as he strides up Broadway, nodding to acquaintances and to people who recognize him He is attired in a neat blue serge suit and looks like an alert, athletic business man or a high powered salesman

"How much have you made in the fight game and how well are you fixed" the writer asked

"Makes $2 000 000

"I drew in $10,000 000 at least in the last 10 fights I fought under the auspices of Tex Rickard" replied the former heavyweight champion "Of that amount I get for myself at least $2 000 000 But out of that $2 000 000 I've had expenses

"You'd be surprised at all the 'cut ins' on a champion's share But I've held on to plenty They never will be holding benefits for yours truly And some of my investments have turned out pretty well Besides I'm making out O K as an actor

Rickard was quoted in the October issue of The Ring as longing for another Dempsey "He said that in the eight world's heavyweight championship fights he has staged Dempsey participated in six of them—and played to more than $8 000 000 They drew as follows

Dempsey Willard $1 083 562 Dempsey Brennan, $200 000, Dempsey Carpentier $1 626 559 Dempsey Firpo $1 117 401, Dempsey Tunney, $1 000 000, Dempsey Tunney, $2, 658 000

In addition Dempsey has participated in other fights that were not for the championship, which ran the total gate receipts over the $10,000 000 mark

Will Keep Active

"I like the public and I hope I'll never be too old to come before them to resume old acquaintances," said Dempsey "I'm going to keep as young as I can and I hope I'll always be active I simply couldn't just retire to the farm and stay there

Fighting spells you for other things I would like to get into something in a year or so, about the time I am through with the stage, But I would like and that would be worth while Something bigger than running a billiard hall or a bowling alley I am not fitted for business, all my youth having been given to the fight game, but I can learn just what I will do I don't know

I always will have a strong interest in sports I will never be too old to come out and watch a good fight Yes I like all branches of sport. My favorite sport? Football I used to play football I was a center I'm not a bad ball player either My position on the team was catcher. I played forward and center on the basketball team too so you see I'm not a bad all around athlete, if I do say it myself Of course the big leagues were never after me, or anything like that I think everybody who can should play basketball because it develops teamwork more than any game"

Plans for Retirement

Dempsey said that when he gives up acting he will retire to one of his ranches for a rest, indulge in light training to keep in condition and keep his mind occupied by raising pedigreed dogs and registered cows and horses He has three ranches near Fresno, Cal, and a $250,000 home in Los Angeles He owns a restaurant in Salt Lake City, a block of city property in Fresno, and has other investments Not long ago he sold his Los Angeles hotel for $650,000 at a profit of $100 000

The popular former champ had reached the Times Square barber shop where he was going to get shaved for his mustache appearance Everybody in the place saluted him and from the barbers there came a chorus. "Neat!"

Both the Carmania and the Lapland reported having encountered a 120-mile gale last Wednesday, when enroute to New York from Europe, heeling them over thirty degrees. They "gave" to the force of the gale, but what would be left of the right buildings of the average city struck by such a gale?

The German minister of transportation sees "a sky too small for future aircraft." It seems to us that there should be plenty of room for all, provided they fly high enough.

Six Spaniards, all professional dancing men, have been arrested by the Paris police charged with having robbed their dancing partners —principally American women—of jewelry, money, furs, lingerie and silk stockings. The intimate character of some of the articles rather goes to eliminate any possible sympathy for the gigolos' victims.

Despite the fact that it has taken a lot of drumming to make any considerable degree of political enthusiasm manifest in the present campaign, it will not do to assume that the voters are not interested. The heavy registrations throughout the country show that they are; that they are far more interested than they have been in decades.

Latest Bond Issue Not So Popular.

The demand for the latest government bond issue manifestly has not been so great as was anticipated by the treasury department.

It has been the policy of Mr. Mellon from the time he took over the treasury portfolio to reduce the government's interest burden by taking up and retiring, whenever possible, such outstanding government obligations as might be due or subject to call and replacing them with obligations bearing a lower rate of interest. In this way he has been able to save the government during his administration as secretary of the treasury many millions of dollars, which is highly commendable on his part even though it has worked certain inconveniences, if not some hardship, to individuals holding government securities as investments.

The Second Liberty Loan bonds were retired in this way. To be assured sufficient funds over and above those on hand which came in through the regular channels, the secretary issued short-time treasury certificates bearing lesser interest rates than the 4¼ per cent. paid on the bonds. It has been the good fortune of the government that there has been an easy money market, usually, when it issued such certificates. It is true that there was a peak interest rate of six per cent. which it was forced to pay for money in the 1920-1921 period, but in the main the rate has showed a decrease. In the 1921-1922 period three issues of short-term certificates bearing interest at the rate of 5½ per cent., 5½ per cent. and 5¾ per cent. were issued. At that time money was in strong demand by interests, caught in the deflation of values, which needed credits to carry them along until stocks of commodities which had been piled on shelves at high prices could be liquidated.

After these three issues the interest on short-term government securities eased gradually to 1½ per cent., and in 1922-23 to 3¾ per cent. There was a period of tight money in 1923-24 during which one issue of certificates paid 4½ per cent., but in the following year a three per cent. level was reached, and one issue was sold as low as 2¾ per cent.

So successfully had Mr. Mellon's plan worked out in the retiring of the Second Liberty Loan bonds and other government securities and substituting therefore securities bearing lesser interest rates that he was naturally prompted to follow the same plan in liquidating the Third Liberty Loan bonds. He had succeeded in disposing of bonds at four per cent. and at 3¾ per cent. and, thus encouraged, attempted a further interest saving by announcing, last July, an issue of 3¾ per cent. bonds. Any holder of Third Liberty Loan bonds was privileged to turn them in on the purchase price of the new bonds whereupon such bond holder would be entitled not only to interest at the stipulated rate of 4¼ per cent. to September 15, the date when they were due, on the old bonds, but also interest at the rate of 3¾ per cent. on the bonds taken therefor from July 20.

It so happened that the money market was tight at that time and there wasn't an overly great degree of enthusiasm on the part of holders of Liberty Thirds to exchange them for the new bonds. When call money was bringing six, seven, eight and even as high as ten per cent. in the market, those in position to loan on the market naturally preferred cash for their Liberty Thirds, to new bonds bearing only 3¾ per cent., while many individuals holding Liberty Thirds as investments preferred to wait until September 15 and get cash for them, realizing that Liberty Firsts and Fourths were so low that by paying a difference of about a dollar on each $100 they could buy either of the two issued last named. As such individuals would have to pay this difference but once and would make the difference between 3¾ per cent., the rate on the new bonds, and 4¼, the rate on the Fourths—seven-eighths per cent.—for at least a period of five years, the Fourths being subject to call in 1933, they naturally said to the treasury department: "Let us have the money please."

The result was that the treasury offered a $550,000,000 issue of certificates bearing 4½ per cent. in September and this week offered another issue of $300,000,000 bearing interest at the rate of 5¾ per cent., which is the highest price the government has had to pay for money since the period following the speculative activities that came at the close of the World war.

Even as it is, there is the possibility, if not the probability, that when the latest offering of treasury certificates become payable September 15, 1929, the money market will be such that they can be paid off by new certificates drawing a lower rate of interest, in which event the government will profit once more, for it is decidedly better for it to pay the higher rate of interest for a short time than to pay a slightly lower rate of interest for a period of years.

Just at present, the holders of money have the advantage, but the future may, and probably will, show that Secretary Mellon's plan is the proper one in the present case as it has been in the past and that, in the long run, a considerable saving to the government has been effected.

President Frank J. Loesch, of the Chicago crime commission, says there are sixty professional killers in that city who may be hired to kill any one at prices ranging from five to $250, according to the importance of the subject chosen for death. Well, as a purely business proposition it's easy to see how fifty-nine of them might be eliminated for $14,750 at the top price.

General Zertucho, the new inspector general of police in Mexico City, has announced that, while hugging and necking remain under the ban, an occasional kiss in the streets or in the city's parks will not be held reprehensible. The supreme court of the United States having denied the appeal of the cowardly little rat, Hickman will be executed October 19 for the murder out in Los Angeles of little Marion Parker, but substantial justice will not be done till the curtain of oblivion falls upon any and all who sought to profit in personal reputation by keeping his sickening crime before the public.

Berlin announces that the travelers listed on the Count Zeppelin's passenger list have insured their lives for a number of millions. That's all right if they want to take the chance, but we know an individual who wouldn't risk the trip were the total of all insurance guaranteed to him in the event of his safe arrival.

Justice Holmes wrote a dissenting opinion when the United States supreme court refused to change its five-to-four decision upholding wire-tapping by dry law enforcement officers, denouncing the government for wilfully breaking one law to enforce another. Maybe it wouldn't be a half-bad plan to have all the members of the land's highest judicial tribunal octogenarians.

The New York City sewer scandal investigation has brought out the fact that big contracts for sewer work were given to patriots, who didn't even pretend to be able to handle them, but who realized richly by selling their contracts to real contractors who were willing to pay for them and pay the "sewer pipe king" something like 33 1-3 per cent. of the contract price for the use of his pipe. It is evident that the gang holding up the people of New York can be told little about the high spots in graft.

Little Thought to Future.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

If I were a good-looking young woman or a stalwart young man, it seems to me I should find out how to keep my strength and beauty. As we grow older we mourn the neglect and indifference of our youthful days.

The foundation of the health, vigor and mental capacity of middle and advanced life is laid in childhood and youth. Likewise, the foundation of the ill-health and warped thinking of the adult may be laid in early life.

The trouble about young people is that they are so confident of themselves, so greatly engaged in the enjoyments of youth, that they never think of what may come in old age. Indeed, in the fullness of youth, they really feel they "don't want to live to be old."

But common sense indicates that the majority, or at least a considerable proportion of the flappers and gay lads of today will live into the fifties and sixties and even into the seventies. Have you thought of that? What sort of person will you be at sixty or seventy?

Bad teeth, dyspepsia, a poor heart, chronic bronchitis, weakened kidneys, diseased pelvic organs, stiff joints, painful feet—most of these, perhaps all of them and other ailments besides, are usually traced to youthful neglect.

You will be obliged to live with your body at seventy, just as you do at twenty. Isn't it worth while to prepare for that remote period of your existence?

It is a wonderful thing to be alive and young in this remarkable period. Only today I read of a man who has reached his hundredth birthday. In a newspaper interview he praises the youth of 1928, contrasting them with the young people of eighty years ago. The old gentleman would not for the world have our boys and girls live and work and slave as they did then. He tells about the superior beauty and physical welfare of the youth of today.

There can be no doubt that the world is progressing and we are better off by far than were our grandparents. But my plea is for the conservation of these privileges and for a manner of living that will make the old people of the year 2,000 A.D. far better race than we have now.

Young people don't think a great deal about the "race." It is only preachers and doctors and women's clubs who are thinking in these terms. But, listen, you are interested in you! Even though the "race" can go to pot, you are individual members of it. What is to become of you? You need have no less fun. You need not curtail the essential features of your present day life. It is not for radical restrictions upon your freedom that I plead.

But I do plead for such voluntary regulation of your physical habits that you will not damage that wonderful body or lessen the possibilities of your alert mind.

Most of you who read these words I shall never see. Nonetheless I am interested in your future. I want you to succeed, to succeed in the best sense. Merely to get money is not success. To marry "brilliantly" is not success.

To have a strong body, free from taint and secret weakness; to have a clean mind, founded on respect for all that is decent; to be able to think straight; to beget healthy children; to be useful and effective in advanced life—can you picture greater success?

Think on these things, dear young people. They are worthy your attention. What will you be a half century from now and what your companions of that day will think about you, are determined by an observance of these suggestions.

That's that!

Editorial Comment.

THE CHIEF ILL.

Gilbert Bettman, brilliant Cincinnati attorney, seeks to serve 7,000,000 clients of the state as attorney general of Ohio, being the Republican candidate nominated for that office by an unprecedented majority.

Mr. Bettman holds some interesting views concerning politics in general. He recognizes ills in our system which threatens its existence. Chief among these he places mediocrity in public life. In his view it is not the corruptibility of public officials which is weakening our system, but the low standard of ability characterizing public service from highest to lowest position.

Mr. Bettman is lamentably right when he says, as he recently is quoted as having said: "No, Americans of proved ability avoid public office not because politics is dirty, but because politics is difficult. In private endeavor you need only to do your job well. In public endeavor you must do that and also—this is the more difficult—make the people see that you are doing it well."

In this fact he sees "the price of democracy, but not the only price one must pay." As he put it: "In private endeavor effort and results are commensurate. In public endeavor great effort may be wasted." There are many reasons, and he states them with clarity.

But the upshot of Mr. Bettman's observation and deductions is that better men in public life are needed. The core of his contention is that "graft is a news item, incapacity is not, and that the real ill in American public life is not graft, but mediocrity."

The remedy? "We must not gain capacity," said Mr. Bettman, "by making government professional. If we did, we should lose democracy. We must gain capacity for American government by getting men of achieved success in the business and professional life of the country to enter the public service."

As yes. When that can be done—as once it was done—the day of democracy in America will be illumined. But we are not getting them there, and have not been doing it for a long, long time. In Mr. Bettman a start in this direction has been made. He is of the type of man needed in the public service. As soldier and gentleman and man of parts he promises a character of public service of which Ohio and many a state in the nation sadly is in need—the nation's service itself needs such men.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

BLUE LAW ENFORCEMENT.

A blue law was invoked in Altoona, Pennsylvania, last Sunday and the Altoona Tribune was restopped from announcing the play-by-play progress of the world series baseball game at St. Louis to a crowd of 4,000 persons who had gathered to hear the news. The purpose appears to have been not at all to disperse the crowd about the newspaper office as noisy, boisterous or impeding traffic, but merely to safeguard the sacredness of the day against the intrusion of a report of secular event. Also a radio station of which the Tribune is part owner was forced to desist broadcasting the news of the game to 4 p. m. when some of the ministers of the city insisted on taking the air.

The question is whether the person interested in the game, in whose moral or spiritual interest we suppose the blue law was invoked, were not into a more religious frame of mind by being denied their intrinsically innocent entertainment. We more than doubt it. The very strong probability is that they were made angry, resentful or scornful by the interruption of their diversion, which probably did not seem wicked or even mildly out of the way to any of them. We do not believe that Sunday blue law enforcement is calculated to promote the interests of religion and righteousness.—Ohio State Journal.

Ptolemy the Astronomer.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Notwithstanding the law of parsimony, is there any scientific justification for the universal preference of the Copernican theory in lieu of that of Ptolemy, where the latter is in perfect accord with all obtainable data, and satisfactorily accounts for meteorological phenomena?—C. A. B., Averce, L. I."

It is not only by the "law of parsimony" that the Ptolemaic system is condemned, for it does not fit the facts as you suppose. Ptolemy assumed that the earth was the controlling center of the planetary system, with the sun as well as the planets revolving around it. This was the essential base of his theory. He also assumed that the planets moved in circles. Both of these fundamental assumptions we know to be wrong, for all of the planets move in ellipses, a fact which is established by other observations than those apparently accounted for by Ptolemy's theory. Three remarkable phenomena, unknown to Ptolemy, combine to demonstrate the falsity of his assumptions, viz.: the annual parallax of the stars, the aberration of light, and the annual shifting in the position of the lines in the spectra of the stars. All of these phenomena arise from the earth's motion around the sun.

The annual parallax is an apparent revolution of each fixed star in a small ellipse, which may be described as a miniature of the real orbit of the earth around the sun. Aberration is the apparent displacement of the stars arising from the combination of the velocity of the earth in its orbit with the velocity of light in space. This is usually illustrated by considering what happens if you run through a shower of rain in which the drops are falling vertically. The combination of your motion forward with that of the drops downward causes them to strike you in the face as if they came slopingly toward you from in front. Similarly, the earth rushing through the flood of light from the stars is met, as it were, in the face by the rays of light, coming in at an angle which is directly proportional to the ratio of the earth's velocity to the velocity of light.

The other phenomena is of a similar nature, but we need not discuss it here. Aberration alone is sufficient to prove the orbital motion of the earth, for from it not only the velocity of the earth's motion is determined, but also the size of the orbit, or the earth's distance from the sun.

Since the fundamental assumptions of Ptolemy's theory have been upset by modern discovery, there is, of course, complete "scientific justification" for rejecting his system in its entirety, and accepting the Copernican in its place, for the latter is in accord with all the observed facts.

You speak a good word for Ptolemy, and you are right in that, because he was a great astronomer for his time. He showed great ingenuity and perseverance in his efforts to explain the mechanism of the heavens, and he wrote a text-book on the subject which remained an authority for 1,500 years. He made many valuable observations which were not erroneous in substance, and only went astray—as is still the case in science—when *he undertook to fit a theory of his own in*vention to the facts of nature. He furnishes another example of the truth that the theories of science are only stepping stones which have to be rejected from time to time to make room for better ones.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 10 — A most perplexing thing about big executive jobs in New York is how easy they are to fill in emergency. It is trite that opportunity makes the man, but judging from a few incidents recently that hits the nail on its widely discussed head.

The $100,000-a-year executive of an established concern a year ago decided he had enough of business and its anxieties and resigned over night. Grave conferences were held as to his successor. Tempting offers were made to several recognized executives.

In the end, and as a mere temporary expedient, the son-in-law of the founder was drafted into service. He was one of those tennis playing enthusiasts with buck-teeth and oiled hair usually found in flannelled ease on country club porches. He seemed disturbed by his new duties. And everybody tittered.

Yet in six months he almost completely revolutionized the business, and at the end of the year doubled its profits. As this is written two branch factories are being built, and the young man is no longer seen among gay haunts that used to know him so well.

The New York theater has an example of a tank-touring press agent who was given the opportunity to produce what was considered a mediocre play on Broadway and became one of the leading producers in a year. Two of the shrewdest movie financiers were second-rate newspaper reporters.

A chain-store organizer who had been bounced from seven successive jobs became a $1,500 a week executive in three months. He accepted the job for a month without salary to show what he could do. "I had no idea I could do it. It was a desperate chance," he said.

Perhaps the most notable example of all was that of a shipping clerk in a safety razor concern. He heard the general manager had resigned and wrote a letter which impressed the owner sufficiently to give him a trial. That was two years ago. Today he is a partner in the concern.

Many chuckle at the "Up from Nowhere" heroes of real life featured in the go-to-it-and-win magazines, and yet they offer more actual romance than heroes in fiction. If fictionized, we would likely sniff it wasn't possible.

Life continues its prankish disillusionments. As one who believed the fan mail of a movie star was delivered daily in trucks, I have the word of a recognized star that his weekly average is never more than 100 letters. Many columnists receive more than that.

Then there is that delusion of mash notes sent to beautiful stage ladies. They are so rare that when received the recipient goes gadding about gaily showing them to whoever will read. Anna Held in her day was said to receive more than any other actress and this was due largely to a provocative song sung with much rolling of eyes at the audience. It rather invited flirtatious advances and many took her seriously.

Writes a New Yorker: "Exactly thirty years ago I went with my wife to a restaurant on Fourteenth street serving a special dinner for twenty-five cents. Last night I paid five dollars each for a dinner not so good including the spinach."

And you were lucky you didn't get a shilling or so of sand in the spinach these days.

Many of us who remember the sixty-five cent dinners of fifteen years ago with a bottle of free red or white wine—but why revive all that? There are some still living who can even remember when druggists were druggists.

Indeed I can remember back before the pocket lighter when it was natty to strike a match on the heel without losing a step, but I don't want to play this anymore. I'm going back too far.—Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Standing before 3,000 scientists in Glasgow, the president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science told his distinguished audience that man has a soul.

"Science is not setting forth to destroy the soul," he said, "but to keep body and soul together."

It is a significant fact that more of the great thinkers and research workers of the world are coming to the conclusion that man is more than an animal. Evolution can not account for everything. We are not solely dependent upon instinct. There are the achievements of the mind and soul that have to be accounted for. The whole man is more than a biological specimen.

A Milwaukee woman, Catherine Marie Rice, arguing with somebody else as to whether education has much to do with increasing one's chances of success in life, quotes effectively from a book called "The Money Value of Education," by A. Caswell Ellis. One learns from that book that a study of the distinguished men of America shows that, with no schooling, only thirty-one out of 5,000,000 attained distinction.

With elementary schooling, of 33,000,000, 808 attained distinction.

With high school education, of 2,000,000, 1,246 attained distinction.

With college education, of 1,000,000, 5,768 attained distinction.

The child with no schooling has one chance in 150,000 of performing distinguished service, with elementary education he has four times the chances; with high school education eighty-seven times the chance; with college education 800 times the chance.

From the ranks of the college graduates have come fifty-five per cent. of our presidents, thirty-six per cent. of the members of congress, forty-seven per cent. of the speakers of the house, fifty-four per cent. of the vice presidents, sixty-two per cent. of the secretaries of state, fifty per cent. of the secretaries of the treasury, sixty-seven per cent. of the attorneys general, sixty-nine per cent. of the justices of the supreme court.

Speaking of education the University of Michigan, since it began to offer courses in aeronautical engineering a few years ago, has had ninety-seven graduates in that department. A Chinaman, finishing at this school a few years ago, is now buying airplanes and equipment from the United States at the rate of $6,000,000 a year.

Let us be thankful for the blessings of obscurity. In this republic there are few titles. Most of us can come and go without having any considerable number worry about it. No kings and queens. We do have a president, however, and his family. Poor John Coolidge can not go about his courting without having the world look on or at least be told about it. Most of us are permitted to enjoy a comfortable obscurity and we should be glad of it.

LIEUT. SHERFEY AT PORTO RICAN POST

Former Marion Officer and Wife Write from Storm Area

Lieutenant Walter Lee Sherfey, formerly commanding officer of the Harding club honor guard in Marion, is now located at San Juan, Porto Rico, in the center of one of the districts recently devastated by the hurricane which swept through the West Indies, a letter received here yesterday from him and Mrs. Sherfey revealed.

The letter, sent to Dr. J. W. McMurray, presents a graphic picture of the tremendous damage wrought by the storm. Mr. and Mrs. Sherfey report that the ship on which they made the trip to Porto Rico steered clear of the gale's path but that they arrived at San Juan shortly after the storm had passed.

Lieutenant Sherfey is on duty at the 65th Infantry Post and has charge of a company of native soldiers, none of whom can speak English. His orders are issued through an interpreter.

Buildings and crops are in ruins and hundreds of thousands of natives homeless, the former Marion residents report. They are of the opinion that peasants on the island will not suffer the most severe effects of the devastation for several weeks, when the shortage of food supplies reaches its worst stage. At this time ample relief is being extended by the Red Cross and the army.

Livestock of all kinds is starving with the animals presenting a gaunt and ghastly appearance.

IT has been "moved" but not "seconded" that "dance sets" be given another name since the present term applied to them gives the impression to many—especially masculine gift hunters—that it is necessary to be a tripper of the light fantastic to wear them. ADOPT SLOGAN

"Have a Heart" to be Tag Day Appeal Saturday.

"Have a Heart" is to be the slogan used in the appeal to be made youngsters here Saturday when they co operate under the direction of Mrs. Lewis Uhl in the annual tag day of the Volunteers of America. The purpose of the tag day is to raise Marion's contribution to fund needed for financing the Volunteers' public welfare work in Ohio.

Headquarters will be maintained at the City Library, where the young people assigned to the work will go after school, Friday to receive their tags and instructions. Prizes have been offered by local merchants and theaters to those turning in the largest sums from their tags.

Mrs. Booth, head of the Volunteers of America, said in a recent radio talk, "During the past year over 170,000 children have been helped to future good citizenship through our organization."

The Volunteers of America maintain headquarters in Ohio in Columbus, Mansfield, Toledo, Cleveland and Cincinnati and the work is supported entirely by voluntary contributions.

What Doctors Say About the Laxative Habit

In all history, no Indian was ever known to have constipation Nor need YOU He chewed the bark of a tree called cascara Today, we have the candy Cascara
Concerning the bowels never forms a laxative habit If already formed an occasional Cascaret will usually break the habit For cascara strengthens the muscular walls of the bowels and their need of any aid at all grows constantly less What other cathartic has this characteristic? The writer knows of none
An evacuation brought gently about by cascara will, nine times in ten be followed by full functioning of the bowels on the morrow—and for days after For there is no REACTION as with sickening salts or any of the man made purgatives that go through once a system like a bullet
Physicians tell us cascara is the ideal laxative—and the tongue tells us
candy Cascarets are its ideal form At least a million people know this and a pity there are any who don't Especially parents, because children love to take a Cascaret After which, for days on end, the bowels will be seen to work of their own accord
The only habit from cascara is that of regularity! Cascarets tone and train the bowels But at the first sign of returning sluggishness another Cascaret is as effective as the first
There isn't a druggist who hasn't Cascarets so WHY experiment with laxatives?—Adv

COOKING SCHOOL NEWS
Corned Beef
Croquettes
Same old corned beef hash? Perhaps—but try cooking at the french way, and see how crisp and brown the outside is and how moist and well cooked it is inside

1 tablespoon chopped parsley	Salt and pepper to taste
2 cups mashed potatoes	2 tablespoons Crisco
3 cups finely chopped cold corned beef	½ cup cream 1 egg

Melt Crisco in a saucepan Add the potatoes and cream and stir until well mixed and heated Add the meat, salt and pepper Take from the stove, add the chopped parsley and egg beaten light without separating Mix well and put away to cool When cold, form into croquettes, cover with egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep hot Crisco from 375-385° F Serve hot, with poached egg on round of toast
Wouldn't you hesitate to fry foods in a fat that you would be unwilling to taste? Of course you would! A cooking fat should be as fresh and sweet as milk or butter—and every good cook judges these foods by tasting them.
Just make this interesting test.
Put a little Crisco on the tip of a spoon On the tip of a second spoon place a little of another shortening Taste Crisco first, then the other shortening
Doesn't the sweet, fresh taste of Crisco make you confident that it will improve the flavor of any food you prepare with it?
You taste your milk— You test your eggs— CRISCO NOW— taste your shortening!
Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!
Crisco is the registered trade mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company

DRAMATIC STORY OF AMAZING ADVENTURE

BY WILLIAM ALSION WOLFE

TWENTY SEVEN

[illegible] called Morgan on [illegible]ce even before he [illegible]anged, but Morgan was [illegible]ce—though he had left [illegible]hat if Jim called up he [illegible] a number at which he [illegible]een [illegible]d concerned, and puz[illegible]Jim hurried through the [illegible]ating himself ready for [illegible]then went to his office, [illegible]nerve racking work of [illegible] called Morgan's office [illegible]f half an hour, always [illegible]se [illegible]t settle down to any[illegible]e wanted, though there [illegible]science, enough for him [illegible]t ought of Irene came [illegible]ming him The sudden [illegible]ttitude toward him puz[illegible]e note that had come [illegible]she had smiled on Blake s [illegible]t served to allay his un[illegible] was perfectly true that [illegible] to have Blake out of [illegible]now, but it seemed to [illegible]was paying too high a [illegible]relief Blake's absence

[illegible]ern helmed, all at once [illegible]every sort Had he not [illegible]a blind and self deluded [illegible]think that Irene's in[illegible]n could be real, that it [illegible]her, some time, to con[illegible]the possibility of marry[illegible]here, was much to make [illegible]not, he knew, be the first [illegible]I made a fool of himself [illegible]nation Girls like Irene [illegible]satiated They seized [illegible]s opportunity to amuse [illegible]may snatched at [illegible]mirth, a whim. How [illegible]that all the time Irene [illegible]n laughing at him in her sleeve, that she had not just used him to arouse Blake to a frenzy of jealousy, and so give her own jaded appetite the thrill of a new experience?

Dangerously, insidiously, the thought of Margaret Lamar ran to him There was a girl of a different stamp If he were, in a sense, an adventurer, she was, in an equally limited sense, an adventuress. Between them there was a bond of sympathy and understanding and a common background, such as did not and could not, in the same degree, at least, exist between him and Irene Almost inevitably, he began to contrast the two girls.

It was a strange thing it seemed to him, that after all the years in which he had been free from concern about girls and women, in which he had lived his free, chosen life without regard to love and amorous adventure he should, twice within a month, meet women capable of interesting him, stirring him

For he didn t for a moment deceive himself He was very definitely interested in Margaret Lamar She attracted him enormously, in a certain way, she thrilled him It had been curiously satisfying to feel the weight of her tired body against his as they drove across Long Island toward the sea in the night

He had awaited with a real eagerness the sight of her in her bathing suit, so revealing of the lovely body that had shaped her whole life In the theater he had not especially noticed she had been one of many it had meant nothing to him when he actually met her, that he had a few moments before seen her so nearly nude that even imagination had scarcely been required to complete the revelation of her figure

How much his stubborn, sharp revulsion of feeling concerning Irene Delmar had had to do with the sudden awakening of his interest in the other girl he didn t know It had been a factor, beyond doubt His feeling for Irene was real, it was a greater thing emotionally, than he had ever known before, or would ever, he thought, know again, if, as he was now pessimistically prepared to believe it would, it came to nothing in the end.

Had Irene not gone away it was a thousand to one that his meeting with Ranoway would never have taken place and that, even if it had he would have left the party long before the girls were added to it.

Yet now, as he tried as coolly and as critically as he could to examine the true state of his own feelings, he was curiously torn between the two girls He might come to love Margaret Lamar he faced that as a very real possibility

He was honest enough to admit to himself that it was quite certain that he would do exactly that, if he continued to see her and it became apparent that there really was no chance for him with Irene She had not supplanted Irene in his heart, she could never, he thought do that. But—she might very possibly, even very probably become Irene s successor

And what puzzled and disturbed him most was that he was not quite sure whether he would not, in his secret heart, welcome such an event

He loved Irene and it was a thrilling, surging thing to love her It exhilarated him as nothing ever had before But—it entailed with that exhilaration a corresponding depression If a sign of her favor beckoning, raised him to the seventh heaven of delight, the slightest neglect on her part, the first gesture of liking for Blake or any other man cast him down into the lowest depths

Margaret could never lift him so high—but neither would she ever be able to thrust him down so deep With her he need not make the constant effort that association with Irene demanded, the effort to scale a height, undreamed of before his first meeting with her Margaret and he talked the same language he had need to complete the learning of a new tongue for any real and lasting communion with Irene

He came out of his reverie in a mood of sardonic laughter He was making large assumptions, after all it seemed to him He was taking it for granted that this girl, Margaret Lamar who thanks to her beauty, had the town at her feet, was his for the asking! It wasn t like him, he had never been a coxcomb, never one to assume that he was in any degree irresistible to women He had erred indeed rather on the other side Luckily as he looked back a certain diffidence had had much to do with his escape, in his years of wandering from any entanglements at all serious in their nature with women

He was paying up, now, of course and he knew " for that freedom A man couldn't escape fate and it was the common lot of men to be troubled and harassed by their loves for women But it seemed hard luck that it should come upon him just now, at a time when he needed all his wits, all his resources, if he was to have a chance of victory in the fantastically uneven struggle in which he had become involved, in which the odds against him were so great that to attempt to state them would be to make a statement so grotesque that no one would believe it He ought to be fresh and keen every morning, he ought to be able to go to sleep at night with a mind free from any cares and worries that did not arise solely and directly from the enterprise upon which he was engaged

For, in the end everything depended upon his success If he won he would redeem his honor, he would more than make up for the crushing blow Judge Grant had dealt him in the musty old Boston office

If he lost he would be disgraced his future would stretch blankly and hopelessly before him And he knew very well how slender was the hope of final victory, how many things the incidence of which it was impossible for him to foresee might conspire to bring him to ruin and disaster

Suddenly, as he sat, thinking, such thoughts, staring straight before him at the surveyor's map of Renshaw Estates the telephone rang Morgan at last!

'Gad—glad to get you' Can you come right over?' said Morgan

He went straight to Morgan's office

'Well?' he said 'What's up?'

'I don't know!' said Morgan 'Yesterday our directors met and sanctioned the deal as you and I arranged it But I had disturbing news in the afternoon—from a source I m pledged not to reveal I m told that you don't actually control this land—that you haven't put up a dollar of cash I—well, I m obliged to tell you that unless you can satisfy me the whole deal is off''

What satisfaction do you want? asked Jim He was alert at once cool resourceful In the presence of real danger his fear fell from him 'Look here—suppose we put the whole thing up to Mr Delmar?'

'I ve tried that,' said Morgan, grimly. 'He will give me no satisfaction at all Renshaw—what does this mean '

Aged Slowly

CONNOISSEURS of rare old wines know that slow ageing has much to do with the full mellow bouquet they prize so highly

Makers of cheap extracts—they are not cheap in the long run—cannot wait for their products to age properly.

Slow ageing has much to do with the preference of the discriminating for Burnett's flavors.

BURNETT'S VANILLA
Flavor Makes the Dessert

That famous flavor beans baked in the ground

enjoy it now!

You've heard of them—those beans baked in the old "bean hole" in the lumber camps of the Maine woods.

Such flavor, such aroma as that outdoor method of baking gave to them! . . . Fragrant forest air, sweet-smelling earthen oven, camp fire smoke.

Unlike any other baked-bean flavor! And now you can enjoy it, wherever you live!

For that wonderful "baked-in-the-ground" flavor is now reproduced in Bean Hole Beans!

For dinner tonight have Bean Hole Beans. It will be a delightful change—and so easy for you!

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

Mr and Jubilee sot up In bed a long, time this morning when we woke up and I thought about the way my grandfather looked when his chin landed on the lamburner He was a mad his nose lit up like the stop sign on an auto When I had let Jubilee down this morning and had milked the cows and was feeding my face, my ant said if we could keep my grandfather stirred up like he was yesterday and could give him a couple or four bricks to set on so he couldn t scorch the floor we wouldn t need any lamburner I don t know what he would of said because just then Annabelle Lee put her feet up under the tray on her high chair and pushed against the table so hard that she went over backwards and her cereal plastered her in the face Bill she looked like a mush head With a bump on the back of her head and the cereal on the front of it she looked so funny that everyone wanted to laugh but they were afraid she might be hurt They all ran to pick her up, and I got a bunch of pancakes and an egg and piece of bacon in my pocket for Jubilee

There ought to be a law that eggs should be fried hard for I could feel the yolk running down my leg so I had to hurry and get outside before it ran down past my knees and they saw it Which is what a fello gets for having to wear short pants When When I had fed Jubilee a little at a time so the other purps couldn t get any of it away from him, we took the cows out to the pasture and I went swimming behind the willows whilst the fellas kept the girls away I could hear hollering that if I didn't come out pretty soon she was coming after me Girls are not brite and I told her so She said they weren't, but they were brite enough to not put soft fried eggs in their pockets I told her they weren't brite enough to have pockets She said that was to teach them to be contented, because if they had pockets to grow up with when they got married their husbands would never give them anything to put in their pockets and that would make them feel bad She thinks she is smart

My mother told me to bring in a couple of table leaves from the barn, for my grandfather was going to make her a shelf of them so I brung one and laid it on the back steps whilst I went for the other one after supper Whilst I was gone my mother stepped out of the back door with a pan of dishwater and sot down on the board and slid to the ground with the dish water in her lap and every place, and of course I got blamed for it and had to go to bed early But she certainly looked funny Though a fello mustn t laugh when his mother is unfortunate, so I didn t get as much fun out of it as I ought to have

A woman can tell what another woman has on as far as a man can smell fried onions

Her Color Went Black. She Was Frightened To Death

Mrs. Waite, New Brighton, writes "That deadly indigestion and pastrits, caused by constipation made my color go black. I was frightened to death, and I feel your laxative saved my life. I take them every night now for precaution, and do not fear an attack of constipation poisoning any more."

Love's Awakening

THE HEART STORY OF A WOMAN'S AFFECTIONS

By ADELE GARRISON

Marion Dislike for Her Stepfather Wanlug

MARION considered my question thoughtfully, evidently weighing her answer

'No I wouldn t say it was overhearing that I ngago talk of yours and Uncle Dicky's is wholly to blame I ery not—liking—Mr. Underwood she said slowly, "But it certainly started me along the road to hating him I ever since he came back I've been trying of feel get around mother and try to keep me away from her

'Marion!' Her name was an exclamation of horrified reproof

Yes, I know, Auntie Mame that s pretty raw,' she said ruefully But I just couldn't help it I think I ve over that particular angle though It seems to me as though he really were trying to be decent and if he keeps it up I m going to try to meet him halfway "

There was an unconscious egotism in her voice, which roused all my combative instincts, but I held firm to the counsel I had given Lillian Her better to let things rest as they were until the girls departure for school One thing however I felt that I must say to her

I think that is all your stepfather asks or expects that you meet him halfway' I told her but there is one thing I must tell you Mr Underwood is a very different man today than when he and your mother separated All the selfishness and ruthlessness seem to have been burned out of him by his terrible experience You must not judge him today by what he was then Some day when you are older I am going to tell you his story—and your mother s in the days when you were kept away from her I think it will help you understand them both better '

'Why not tell me now?' she asked quickly

'No you are not ready for it yet,' I said firmly 'Now I'm going to give you the advice I just gave your mother Take these last weeks with her That your stepfather s thoughtfulness has provided and enjoy them to the utmost without worrying about him at all He will have your mother s society all next year while you are at school so there is no need for you to be quixotic over the matter As I tell you before, if you feel honestly that you can ask him to come back before your vacation ends do so by all means"

I did not tell her that by so doing she could accomplish the ardent paradox of "eating her cake and having it, too' I was sure that Harry Underwood no matter how gratified he might be by her invitation would be very careful not to accept it But there was no use discouraging the first generous gesture she ever had made toward him.

I m sure I can do that ' she said thoughtfully, and—I ll try awfully hard to be good—and I do like him a little better than I did—at least I don t dislike him so much —she amended hastily Put I do love you ' she flashed emotionally, rushing over to me and sweeping me into a bear hug

And I do love you, dearest,' I told her truthfully as I left her, feeling as if one of the problems troubling me at least half possibilities of being worked out to a satisfactory solution if only the mystery concerning the check which Dicky a young niece was making out to the unknown 'Janet Brandwin' held no promising clue I should be content But since even Harry Underwood s keenness and resourcefulness had failed to catch the name and address on the envelope Mare had mailed at Rhetland I was distinctly discouraged.

So I was brooding over the matter however, and I busied myself with the do en or so seemingly incongruous trifles which eat up the time of the mistress of a house When I had noticed, I joined Lillian on the veranda while Mary and Marion played at recently interminable sets of tennis on the courts back of the lilac hedge

Then the big new car with Mr Underwood at the wheel turned into the driveway and I saw Lillian's fingers tighten upon the telegram her husband had caused to be sent to him, and which she must present to think genuine

QUART OF WATER A DAY HELPS KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form says a well known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys Then they become overworked and sluggish clog up and cause all sorts of distress particularly backaches and misery in the kidney region rheumatic twinges severe headaches nervous stomach, constipation torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right or if bladder bothers you begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders

Jad Salts can not injure anyone, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders —Adv

MINE OWNER IS JUBILANT ABOUT MASTER MEDICINE

Forced To Bed Because of Rheumatism, Finds Speedy Relief Through Konjola

MR GEORGE BROWN

Seems like the wonders Konjola works in relieving disorders of the stomach liver kidneys and bowels and rheumatism neuritis and nervousness, will never cease Daily hundreds pay tributes of praise to this sterling remedy

One again happy in renewed health is Mr George Brown 1401 Lincoln avenue Steubenville Ohio Read of his remarkable recovery

In an inspection of the mines I got my feet wet and rheumatism set in My body was a mass of aches and pains and I became so afflicted that I had to take to my bed I thought I would never be up and around again for nothing helped me Several friends suggested Konjola and I started on the treatment I had imported medicines from Europe which had failed and I had little hope Imagine my delight and surprise to be out of bed after taking one bottle of Konjola!

After taking three I went to my office, and today I am perfectly well I can climb a scaffold as quickly as any youth in my employ Try to beat this record of Konjola I am hoping this report reaches every victim of rheumatism in the country

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section It contains twenty two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach liver kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years At the same time many weak and run down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medicine for that until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is on sale in this section

PLAN LAST RITES FOR 17 PRISONERS

None of Bodies Positively Identified; Warden Thomas Investigates Fire

New Lexington Oct 10—Over a common grave in which repose 17 baby caskets containing charred remains of the convicts who were burned to death in the mad stampede for freedom early Monday when the dormitories at the brick plant at Junction City were turned into a blazing inferno Protestant and Catholic clergymen Thursday will conduct simple funeral services for 17 nameless men

None of the bodies was positively identified In many cases only small pieces of charred bone splintered teeth or smashed skulls were recovered and it has been impossible thus far to determine the proper category for the gruesome remains

Twenty prisoners were missing after the fire With the 17 purported bodies recovered three still are unaccounted for Whether or not these three will be found when the pile of debris, all that remains of a building by hosting 270 men, has been thoroughly combed is conjectural

Deputy Warden H C Bower has declared his emphatic opinion that the entire number perished in the blaze Other officials incline to the theory that three may have seized the opportunity presented by the pandemonium and confusion following the blaze to have gone over the wall to freedom in the early morning darkness

Work on a new dormitory to house 700 inmates went forward today on to deal with the institution of three separate inquiries into the cause of the blaze One probe is being conducted by Warden P J Thomas another by C H Stauer governor Dorsey's personal representative and still another by State Welfare Director J E Harper

THOMAS ON GROUND

Warden at Junction City Making His Own Investigation

Junction City Oct 10—Warden P J Thomas of Ohio State penitentiary was to return here this morning to launch his official investigation into the Monday morning fire which swept the brick plant here, cost the lives of about 17 convicts and seriously injured 50 who were received in the Lenlitz Memorial hospital at Columbus for treatment

Warden Thomas came here yesterday afternoon and personally inspected the ruins of the burned temporary living ground work for his investigation

He indicated that everyone connected with the brick plant will be questioned and their testimony taken by a stenographer in an effort to determine responsibility for the tragedy

My first investigation of the grounds has raised many questions it is stated that I want answered the warden said "When these questions are answered If they are answered I think I have no doubt but what there will be some drastic action necessary"

...S CO. TO HOLD PUBLIC RECEPTION

...gram at Local District Offices Announced for Saturday

...cent opening of the new home ...he Logan Gas Co at 193 West ...ter st will be celebrated Saturday, Oct. 11, with an all-day program and open house, it was announced today by gas company officials. Local offices of the company were moved into the new home on June 12. Extensive improvements have been made in the building in which the gas company has taken a lease.

Invitation to Public

O. L. Brockner, acting district manager for the Logan Gas Co and allied companies and other gas company officials joined today in extending an invitation to the public to visit the new Logan home on Saturday, and to get acquainted with the program of the company and inspect the offices and equipment.

Open hours will be maintained from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. These will be more than about the day and evening and there will be favors for both men and women who attend the opening.

Under direction of H. E. Myers new business manager, a complete line of modern gas appliances will be shown as a feature of Saturday's program.

Commodious Quarters

The new Logan home occupies large quarters, the building being 185 feet long by 20 feet wide. On the ground floor are the appliance display room, the district offices and the collection department with a convenient counter of the open type where business with the public is transacted. The bookkeeping department and an appliance storeroom occupy the second floor, where the meter department will also be located eventually. Ray Anthony is the office manager.

In addition to being the local quarters, the Logan company's new offices serve as district headquarters for Mr. Brickner and his staff.

There are now 13000 gas consumers in the Marion district. The city of Marion with 7,000 consumers being by far the largest center served in this territory. The number of consumers throughout the district is being added to constantly by extensions of lines.

Recipe Describes Dishes Made of By-Products

There are a number of by-products in the meat line that may be utilized in a number of good and wholesome dishes. These dishes are always a help in beating the budget and are an appetizing way of serving it. Try some of the following recipes and you will be surprised at the good things you have been missing as well as at the money you might have saved.

Baked Liver

Take a pound of calf's liver and cut fat bacon into the frying pan and slice in their slices. Put two slices when hot and melting lay in the slices of liver and brown quickly. Then lift it to a plate with the bacon. Put into the fat two large thinly cut onions. Have ready three cupfuls of smoothly mashed potato. Line a buttered baking dish with the potato then put in a layer of the liver and bacon, then onions and seasoning of salt pepper a little sugar and a little sage. Continue until all is used, covering the top with potato. Dot with butter, strain over the gravy from the fried things and bake for about an hour. Serve a good tart apple sauce with the dish.

Stock Home Pie

Line a deep dish with good pastry. Take three pounds of lean pork and cut it into small serving pieces. Put a layer in the bottom of the dish then put in a layer of chopped onion and tart apple, salt, pepper and a teaspoonful of sugar. Sprinkle a tablespoonful of very fine dry crumbs dot with butter and continue this way until all is used. Now pour in as much well seasoned stock as the dish will hold and put on the top crust having vents cut in it. Bake for two hours in a moderate oven. Cover if it browns too quickly.

Oxtail Stew

Get two oxtails and joint them into short lengths. Place the meat in a stew pan and add two sliced carrots, four very thinly sliced onions, two tablespoonfuls of chopped celery leaves, a minced bud of garlic and the strained juice of a large can of tomatoes. Add two quarts of cold water and put on to cook slowly. When the meat is tender add pepper, salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, six potatoes pared and sliced stew fashion, and cook a half hour longer. If desired the meat may be lifted with a skimmer and the big bones removed before being sent to table. If this is done a little thickening may be added which improves the dish. Serve toasted croutons around the edge of the serving dish.

A New Way With Soup Meat

Get a good piece of shank meat, and when it has cooked until tender in the soup, lift and cut it from the bone. Slice in very thin slices. Fry a few large slices of onion in butter until softened (but not brown) and lift them. Add a few tablespoonfuls of vinegar, pepper, salt, and a little dredging of a buttered baking dish. Lay the onion over the meat, then a layer of mashed potatoes. Pour over the gravy from the pan and brown lightly in the oven. This makes an

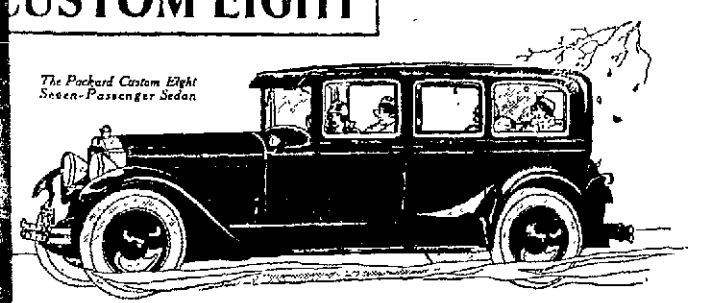
THE PACKARD CUSTOM EIGHT



The Packard Custom Eight Seven-Passenger Sedan

offering literally New Luxury-New Comfort and New Safety

WE want all lovers of fine things, all those who appreciate supreme excellence in a motor carriage—whether in the market for a new car or not—to see and ride in the new Packard Custom Eight.

It is a revelation of what modern engineering genius, with a background of 30 years' experience in the manufacture of fine cars, can achieve.

In appearance the Custom Eight discloses new refinements in the characteristic Packard design. It would be folly to attempt radical changes in the fundamental grace of Packard lines. Nor would it be fair to Packard owners to depreciate their cars by changes which could add nothing to Packard beauty and distinction.

The famous Packard Straight Eight powerplant remains fundamentally the same. Improved and refined, with its nine-bearing crankshaft, it continues to provide the utmost in smooth, flexible flow of power—unequaled motor car performance.

But in the new and exclusive Packard Shock Absorbing System, Packard offers the greatest recent engineering advance in the industry. This remarkable combination of inventions provides a new driving ease and riding comfort that cannot be explained in words.

To say that the Packard is now the easiest riding car in the world—as well as safest—is a bold, but literal statement, and one which you will enthusiastically confirm after your first ride.

When will you have your demonstration? When may we appraise your present car? If it is of average value you may own a Packard Eight without a cent of down payment and with but small monthly payments you will not find bothersome.

Recipe Describes Dishes Made of By-Products

There are a number of by-products in the meat line that may be utilized in a number of good and wholesome dishes These dishes are always a help in boosting the budget and are an appetizing way of economizing Try some of the following recipes and you will be surprised at the good things you have been missing as well as at the money you might have saved

Baked Liver

Take a pound of calf's liver and of fat bacon into the frying pan and slice in thick slices Put two slices when hot and sizzling lay in the slices of liver and brown quickly Then lift it to a plate with the bacon Put into the fat two large thinly cut brown Have ready three cupfulled onions and fry until soft but ful of smoothly mashed potato Line a buttered baking dish with the potato, then put in a layer of the liver and bacon, then onions and seasoning of salt, pepper, a little sugar and a little sage Continue until all is used, covering the top with potato Dot with butter, strain over the gravy from the fried things and bake for about an hour Serve a good tart apple sauce with the dish

Pork Game Pie

Line a deep dish with good pastry Take three pounds of lean pork and cut it into small serving pieces Put a layer in the bottom of the dish, then put in a layer of chopped onion and tart apple, salt pepper and a teaspoonful of sugar Sprinkle a tablespoonful of very fine dry crumbs dot with butter and continue this way until all is used Now pour in as much well seasoned stock as the dish will hold and put on the top crust having vents cut in it Bake for two hours in a moderate oven Cover if it browns too quickly

Oxtail Stew

Get two oxtails and joint them into short lengths Place the meat in a stew pan and add two sliced carrots four very thinly sliced onions, two tablespoonfuls of chopped celery leaves a minced bud of garlic and the strained juice of a large can of tomatoes Add two quarts of cold water and put on to cook slowly When the meat is tender add pepper, salt a tablespoonful of sugar, six potatoes pared and sliced stew fashion, and cook a half hour longer If desired the meat may be lifted with a skimmer and the big bones removed before being sent to table If this is done a little thickening may be added which improves the dish Serve toasted croutons around the edge of the serving dish

A New Way With Soup Meat

Get a good piece of shank meat, and when it has cooked until tender in the soup, lift and cut it from the bone Slice in very thin slices Fry a few large slices of onion in butter until softened (but not brown) and lift them Add a few tablespoonfuls of vinegar, pepper, salt, and a little dredging of a buttered baking dish Lay the onion over the meat, then a layer of mashed potatoes Pour over the gravy from the pan and brown lightly in the oven This makes an excellent luncheon dish made by the meat, and after the soup

The Milk Diet

HOW TO FEEL LIKE NEW

Miss Dixon, a Noted Authority on Beauty, Advocates the Use of Pasteurized Milk

"A pasteurized milk diet clears the complexion and rounds off the edges without producing stoutness," says Anna N. Dixon, the well-known authority and magazine writer.
She says, "The first time you feel run down and nervous, stop eating for two days. During this time drink pasteurized milk—three glasses for breakfast, three for lunch, three more at night, one or two at eleven in the morning, the same amount in the middle of the afternoon and more just before going to bed Drink it slowly. Do not gulp it down. The breakfast on the third morning should consist of a cereal with cream and dry toast—the other two meals being equally light. FEAR 64 LOST IN BUILDING COLLAPSE

Seven-Story Block at Prague Goes Down; Troops Search Ruins

Prague, Oct. 10—The catastrophic collapse of a newly-constructed seven-story building here may have taken a toll of 64 lives or more, it was feared today.

Two thousand troops and firemen who searched the debris all night recovered 14 bodies. Thirty-eight injured are in various hospitals. Some of these are in a critical condition and it is feared they may die. It is believed 50 others still are buried in the debris.

Most of the victims were workmen putting the finishing touches on the building. Faulty materials and too hasty construction are blamed for the collapse.

The architect in charge of the construction of the building committed suicide when informed of its collapse.

A woman pushing a baby carriage was buried beneath the avalanche of bricks and masonry with her child. A chauffeur passing in a motor car suffered the same fate, as did two pedestrians and the four horses pulling their vehicles.

About a hundred workmen were in the building when it collapsed. The building, situated in the heart of the commercial district, crashed with deafening roar. Hundreds of frenzied workers from nearby offices rushed to the streets fearing an earthquake.

U. B. PASTOR DIES

Former Galion Resident Succumbs at Westerville

Galion, Oct. 10—A former pastor of the First United Brethren church of this city Rev. C. N. Crabbs, 62, died at his home in Westerville Sunday according to word received yesterday by former church associates. Reverend Crabbs has been in declining health for several years and has led a life of retirement. He served for many years in the Sandusky conference of the United Brethren church having been transferred from the church of North Robinson to the Galion charge in 1914.

Funeral services were held at the home in Westerville yesterday with continued services at the United Brethren church at Willard and burial following there. Reverend Crabbs is survived by his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Starkey, instructor of music in Otterbein college and a son, J. Burnell Crabbs of Byron.

Save These Recipes

From Mrs. Crabtree, Star Cooking School Expert

Ginger Bread: 1 cup molasses, 1 egg beaten, 1-4 cup melted shortening, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons ginger, 2 cups flour, 1-2 cup hot water, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Mix shortening, water, molasses and eggs and add all the dry ingredients (including the soda) sifted together. Bake in square or oblong pan in a moderate oven 350 degrees for forty or forty-five minutes.

Sauce for Gingerbread: 1 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg, cloves, cinnamon, mixed, ½ cup cooking sherry or add 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1-4 cup hot water in place of sherry, 1-4 cup soaked chopped raisins or currants, 1 teaspoon ground orange peel.

Put sugar, shortening and spices in a saucepan and allow them to come to boiling. If sherry is used add the sherry at this point and boil for five minutes. Add the fruit a minute or two before the sauce comes off the stove. Serve hot on ginger bread.

Meat Loaf: 1 1-2 lb. ground round steak, 1 cup tomato puree, 1-2 green pepper chopped fine, 1 small onion choped fine, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon black pepper, dash of curry powder, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Mix ingredients and shape into loaf. Place in greased pan and cook fast until browned. Lower temperature to moderate. Pour one-third cup water over meat and cook half hour longer. Serve surrounded with hot, seasoned rice over which has been poured a gravy made by putting a small amount of boiling water into the pan where the loaf was cooked, letting it boil a minute.

After-Dinner Jelly Mints: 2 level tablespoons gelatine Green coloring, 2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, few grains salt, ½ teaspoonful peppermint extract.

Soak gelatine in two-thirds cup cold water 5 minutes. Put sugar and two-thirds cup water in saucepan, bring to the boiling point add soaked gelatine and let boil twenty minutes. Remove from fire, add remaining ingredients and color green. Turn into a pan (first rinsed in cold water) to one inch in thickness. When set, remove to board, cut in cubes and roll in powdered sugar.

Slaw—In a Salad Bowl that Grows: 2 cups shredded cabbage, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon mustard, dash cayenne, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup hot milk, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ cup vinegar.

Safety of Banking

Before operations are started a group of individuals or stockholders must obtain a charter which is a book of rules and laws made by the state for the conduct of banks.

Among other conditions are the establishment of reserves for the safety of depositors in proportion to the capital stock and deposits; frequent publication of its financial condition, profits, risks, etc., and examination of its books of record by the state banking department.

Each of these is a safeguard against poor business methods; but, that is not all. Each banker or employe is trained to observe trends and conditions and are in a position to give valuable advice. This we do freely and for the asking. Ask us.

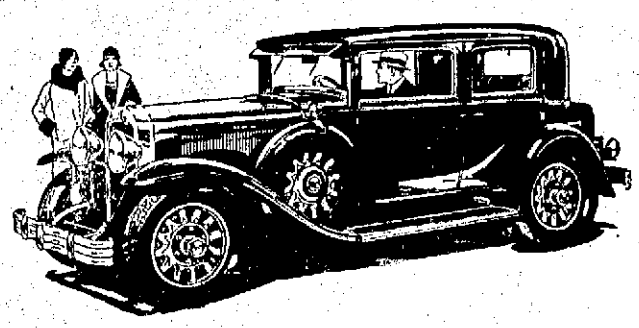
The new Buick is the new Style



Nowhere such beauty and luxury ---- nowhere such pleasing lines and contours ---- nowhere Bodies that equal these new Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher--The entire country is saying, "That's the Style"

Setting an entirely new, a revolutionary, style—introducing what will unquestionably be the trend of smart body-design during the next several years—the new Bodies of the Silver Anniversary Buick are enjoying universal acclaim as the most original and distinctive, as well as the most beautiful bodies ever designed by the world-famous Fisher organization!

Startling the motorists of America by their newness—winning ever-increasing preference in the most fashionable motoring circles—then sweeping the nation to unexampled heights of enthusiasm—these magnificent new creations have attained the dignity and prominence of a country-wide vogue!

It is a vogue of symmetry, born of gently rounded contours instead of plain straight lines—a vogue of distinction, derived from sparkling colors, brilliant chrome-plating and arresting new roof, radiator and fender design—a vogue of tasteful luxury, composed of finest mohair velvet upholstery, artistic hardware and fitments and new appointments of comfort and convenience not to be found in any other automobile——and the vogue is proving so popular—the motoring public welcoming it so enthusiastically—that this beautiful new Buick continues to outsell all other cars above the very lowest price field by an overwhelming margin!

The entire country is hailing the Silver Anniversary Buick. The entire country is saying, "That's the style!"

War Veterans Meet for Annual Reunion at Upper Sandusky

COLORFUL PARADE MARKS OPENING

300 Spanish American Soldiers, Representing 10 Companies, Are Guests

ELECT OFFICERS

Homedale, Wood County, Chosen for Meeting in 1929

Upper Sandusky Oct. 10—Tuesday was warm both in atmosphere and welcome 300 veterans of the Spanish American war with their wives met for a grand day of reminiscing Veterans of 10 companies comprising the second regiment O N G formed the group which this city as guests of Congressman the local organization Nothing was left undone by the hosts of the day for the pleasure and entertainment of their guests and from the start of the day, with registration at the Elks home until the mallet of the gavel announcing the close of the afternoon session at the G A R building exuberance of spirit abounded among the entire assemblage A note of respect and remembrance for the veterans of other wars was evidenced by the appearance of the soldiers of the Civil war and several boys of the World war as honored guests at the dinner

Ladies Are Hostesses

Ladies of the local auxiliary served doughnuts and coffee during the morning at the Elks home and at 10:30 the last registration was made and the line of march ready to start. Heading the parade was Charles Peters, son of Avery Peters Spanish veteran wearing full uniform and riding a snow white horse. Charles Harman as color bearer and Charles Schwabel and M E Weimer as a drum and bugle squad from the American Legion were followed by the Civil war veterans in automobiles Among these were G W Smith 83 D Moody 87 Robert Gaster 82 Samuel Mann 86 William Lumberson 81 C B Hare 84 William Lerick 83 H C Cross 80 M H Sarpless 82 W H Hall 83, J Kenan 85 Alvin Miller, 81, and Lewis Bloom 83

Next came the high school band in full regalia playing martial airs. The Spanish American color guard headed the line of veterans several blocks in length with a part of the original drum corps of the regiment heading the wives of the veterans who also marched in parade Ray Mohr and Ralph Main of Delaware and Otto Ritter of Lorain formed the part of the parade with their drums and fife

Give Program

After all were seated at long tables for dinner at the I Avery Letts introduced S N Clark master of Upper Sandusky who gave a fitting welcome to visiting veterans and their wives Letts then called on P M Rigon commander of the local company for response J J Berry, of Findlay senior department commander of the State of Ohio Spanish American war veterans was introduced as toast master and in a clever manner kept the meeting alive with an impromptu program of speeches songs and nonsense W O Moore, superintendent of schools of this city gave a splendid talk, stressing the point that the development of this country to the point of 120 000 000 liberty loving and living persons within its boundaries could not have been possible without the assistance of the American soldier A word of brotherly greeting was brought by Paul Bennett, commander of the local American Legion post after which Ray Mohr entertained with an original song, Yankee Doodle '98 a story of the second regiment during the Spanish war in song Later in the day, it was voted to place this song as one of the regimental musical numbers

Toastmaster Blery then called on many of the veterans some who had not been present for many years others who had gained notable prominence in civic and national affairs and others who had special messages to bring from those not present.

Among these was Judge E S Matthias of Van Wert judge advocate of the Spanish American War Association who reminded the assemblage that the flag did not come down in Cuba until it was absolutely certain that a self governing nation would be established

Officers elected for the coming year were W H Richards of Bloomdale president I W Smith Bloomdale vice president A C Gilpin of Van Wert, secretary and C P Mizgara of Kenton historian All the companies reelected their secretaries of the past year

Findlay and Bloomdale have extended invitations to the veterans of the regiment to hold their twenty ninth annual reunion in their cities next year with the vote for next year's meeting place going to Bloomdale The second Tuesday in October of next year was set as the time of meeting

FIRST NUMBER OF COURSE A SUCCESS

Galion Music Lovers Hear Herman Rosen in Program

Galion Oct. 10—An artist of distinction, Herman Rosen violinist opened the Community Lyceum course here last night with a splendid recital at the auditorium of the senior high school building Anticipated by music lovers as one of the outstanding treats of the season a representative and appreciative group of Galionites composed the eager audience that hearing Mr Rosen for the first time received him warmly and at the close of the program accorded him an ovation

His numbers were well chosen showing his versatility to advantage and proving particularly appealing to his hearers The Concerto No 2 F Sharp Minor' was doubtlessly the finest thing on the program displaying superb technical powers coupled with a depth of feeling that from the opening Allegro movement on the 'Rondo' held his audience fascinated In addition to his regular recital program Mr Rosen acknowledged the plaudits of his audience with three encore numbers 'The Old Refrain Kreisler The Song of India" and Kreisler's arrangement of The Rosary'

Mrs Harold K Mouser of Marion, and daughter of Mr and Mrs C B Strothers, S Boston st. was the piano accompanist for Mr Rosen Mrs Mouser was able to interpret the artist's moods and give a sympathetic accompaniment that added greatly to the finesse of the charming program

Mr Rosen who recently completed a five-years course of study with Leopold Auer is just beginning his season's concert tours and was secured for concert here through the efforts of Miss Bessie Doll of the Fine Arts department of Galion high school

Other numbers of the program were Sonata G Minor' Tartini, Danse Tzigane' Nachez Lotus Land,' Scott Kreisler Old Vienna Godowsky Press Frasquita Lehar Kreisler Tambourin Chinois Kreisler, Andante Cantabile' Tschaikowsky Auer Midnight Bells Kreisler

RUTH, GEHRIG WIN WORLD SERIES

YANKEE DRIVE FOR VICTORY CENTERED AROUND 2 SLUGGERS

Lou and Babe Establish New Records in Four Games

BY DAVIS J WALSH

ST LOUIS Mo Oct 10 — They have indicted these many years that baseball is strictly a team game and everybody has accepted that as dogma But the New York Yanks speeding eastward today with their second world championship in consecutive games probably realize that the individual star is always a big factor in any big series Could forever it might be well to take the small group data with that final and ultimate authority on this question the St Louis Cardinals They know to their everlasting regret of at least one instance in the history anything but

The fortunate winners of second money yesterday in the conclusion of a world series that were not credited as a district attorney's plea to the jury know that they didn't crack in the doubtful distinction of losing to a champion team They lost in four straight games because Ruth and Gehrig were on exhibition of offensive power never before known to world series play

Will Never Be Equalled

One never knows what the future will do to a prediction but the writer feels one coming on him irresistibly at this juncture and begins about to strangle It is a prediction that the hitting of this pair of madmen will not be equalled and certainly never exceeded It simply isn't credible that another man just like Ruth ever will appear on the ball field or even if this miracle were achieved a second Ruth would be supplemented by a second Gehrig

Once we thought Crawford and Cobb and later Heilmann or Veach and Cobb were remarkable combinations Collins and Baker of the old Athletics were extraordinarily good too, and so were Schulte and Chance of the old Cubs but one simply thought of these as great pairs of the moment

It is only with Ruth and Gehrig that the idea becomes fixed that never again will we see their like

The Yankees used approximately 27 men officially in this four game set with an all but prostrate rival, yet it wasn't until yesterday that the club, in toto furnished the slightest aid Pascual got a few hits and fewer of them counted Koenig hit well enough but his didn't figure seriously, either Durocher didn't hit at all until the fourth game yesterday and Meusel's punch was quite modest, although he did supply the winning punch with a homer in the first game Durst got his hits when not the opportunity offered which, however, wasn't often Neither Dugan nor Robertson figured in the attack while Lazzeri although did surprisingly well but only in a comparative way and so it went with the minor members of the cast

Consider, then what might have happened to this outfit if Ruth instead of Combs, was out of the series Ruth also scored nine runs against 10 for the entire St Louis ball club while the great man's business associate furnished five runs to make their two man total 14 runs or four beyond the total output of the rival club

Together they had 16 hits in 48 times at bat for an average of 666

Drastic Restrictions Are Included In Court Rules

ANDOVER, MASS Oct. 10—More drastic restrictions governing the dribbler and the introduction of minor rules to minimize stalling, are incorporated in the 1928-1929 basket ball rules are advanced by Oswald Tower of Phillips academy official rules interpreter of the joint basketball rules committee on the method aimed to standardize officiating, on the dribble to discourage roughness on the part of the dribbler and to promote a faster, cleaner game

While a substantial number of coaches and officials urged that the dribble be restricted a larger number desired no change other than to place more responsibility upon the dribbler when personal contact results Tower said

The new clause governing the dribble (rule 15 section 9) says A player shall not hold, trip charge or push an opponent whether or not either player has possession of the ball If a dribbler charges into an opponent or makes personal contact with an opponent without an apparent effort to avoid such contact a personal foul shall be called on the dribbler If despite the dribblers effort to avoid contact, personal contact ensues, either player or both may be guilty but the greater responsibility is on the dribbler if he tries to dribble to an opponent who is in his path'

Two clauses aimed to discourage stalling or killing time by defensive teams are embodied

Held ball says one clause 'Is declared when two players of opposing teams have one or both hands firmly on the ball or when one closely guarded player is withholding the ball from play or is making no apparent effort to put the ball into play'

On a jump ball a player may tap and catch the ball but if he then holds it until another held ball is declared he may not tap and catch it on the ensuing jump ball says another clause

On demand of architects the joint committee for the first time gives out the ideal specifications for basketball court as follows

Elementary school 40x60 feet secondary school 48x75 feet and college 50x84 feet with minimum height 20 feet and with a ten foot clearance on all sides

WATCH TELLS DATE

A wrist watch that not only gives the time but records the day of the week month and the date of the games of the season has been introduced in Europe The first four teams are contesting in small circles on the dial The compass requires only one winding a month and is only one and one half inches long and one inch wide

OHIO BACKFIELD TO BE CHANGED AROUND FOR FRAY SATURDAY

Coffee, Eby, Kruskamp and Holman Will Start Game

COLUMBUS Oct 10—A new backfield combination picked by Coach Jack Wilce yesterday following the game with Wittenberg Saturday was expected to continue its functioning as the offensive power of the Ohio State university varsity eleven in the training practice today in preparation for the battle with Northwestern the Buckeye squad's second foe of the season

The new combination which will in all probability be seen in action against the purple eleven at Evanston next Saturday includes Bryan Eby of Chillicothe a veteran of two years at it Charles Coffee of Salina at halfback, Harold Kruskamp of Wellston, a member of the 1926 and second at fullback and Allen Holman of Fairfield Jr a sophomore at quarterback

In the new quartet are found three ball carriers namely Eby, Coffee and Holman Kruskamp is expected to be used largely for blocking

With the exception of Kruskamp all of the members of the new offense drivers were in the lineup against the Lutherans Kruskamp just recently recovered from a leg injury

Ohio State's line for the game with Northwestern Saturday is not likely to undergo many changes from the one which started the first game of the season Sarlin and Fesler will likely occupy the end positions Ross Lowell and Larkins at tackles Uhlein and Young at guards and Barratt at center

Uhlein was the only member of the Ohio State squad to sustain any injuries of any serious nature in the opening game He is now nursing a bruised arm

While the Ohio State eleven is continuing its strength with Northwestern the Buckeye Reserves will meet the Ohio Wesleyan university reserve squad at Ohio Stadium

WAS THAT LAST 5c CIGAR BITTER?

No More Experience Like That If You Smoke This Ripe Tobacco Cigar

No, they're not all alike There is a difference in five cent cigars Many, we admit, are made from 'scraps, 'cuttings,' under ripe top leaves, over ripe bottom leaves and other low grade tobacco material But there's one cigar, men, that's away ahead of its price class Havana Ribbon And the reason is—It's Ripe Tobacco! No bitterness, no flatness, no short ends to crumble in your mouth But all long filler, fully ripe middle leaves from choice tobacco plants Man, that does make a smoke! Cool, sweet, mild, fragrant, flavorful—a cigar that makes your nickel ring like it was a silver dime!

Give Havana Ribbon a chance You'll never stop wondering how a cigar so good can be made for five cents Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

High School Athletics On Increase, Townsend Says

COLUMBUS Oct 10—Ohio high school athletics are on a decided increase, and will probably reach the highest peak it has ever known within the next few years This was the statement made here today by H R Townsend commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association

Track has shown the greatest increase and interest within the last few years and some national and world's champions have been turned out of Ohio high schools as shown by the monthly bulletin of the athletic association

Within the last three years Ohio schools have produced two world's championship relay teams Columbus East won the honors in 1926 and Central High of Columbus won the event this year at the national meet in Chicago

Other stars this year have been Bennett crack dash man of Toledo Libbey Manley, negro of Columbus Central mile runner, Dymond holder of the national record for the mile run of Thompson Township high school and Allen pole vault star of Salem high school

The men hold records that will be hard to beat and are no doubtedly future college and university stars

As a rule Ohio high school athletic teams are at a decided disadvantage because Ohio has stricter eligibility requirements than most states Townsend said but this has hindered our basketball teams mostly in the national meets held in Chicago every year

OHIO COLLEGE TEAMS OPEN CONFERENCE SEASONS SATURDAY

Ohio State To Uncork Big Ten Season at Northwestern

WHILE Ohio State gridders are at Evanston Ill helping North western get off the Big Ten conference ball, several Ohio colleges will perform a similar uncorking act for the Ohio conference the Buckeye conference and the Northwestern conference

Since Ohio Wesleyan's 17 7 lukeless victory over Michigan last Saturday the Bishops have annexed the Buckeye Athletic association's place of honor and are expected to do dire things to Bibee's alleged Bearcats at the University of Cincinnati field

Ohio's two big red teams Miami and Denison will hold their annual tilt to see whose colors will run in directions are that Denison's feathers will fade a little, if not more

Ernie Godfrey's Lutherans will stay at home Saturday and welcome Ohio university maulers from Athens for their first tilt in the Buckeye exclusive circle

Of the conference games Muskingum at Capital looks like a chance for any sport to get his money's worth Capital is having its first fling in the conference and looks oodles better than last year Muskingum this year inherited the rep of last years squad but so far hasn't shown the zip of yesteryear

Ohio Northern against Heidelberg at Ada is another scheduled fracas that has the earmarks

And if you live in northwestern Ohio and like your football frenzied and furious drop in at Bluffton where Bowling Green normal and Bluffton will start their Northwestern season Little Bluffton beat the Wood county normal boys by one touchdown a year ago This year Bluffton won from Capital 2-0 and Bowling Green trounced Ohio Northern 7-0 Ohio Northern and Bluffton finished 33 all in the season opener this year

Dayton university Flyers go to Providence R I to tangle with Brown university long a stumbling block for more than one big eastern outfit

Kent of the conference visits Delaware of the Northwestern little five

Western Reserve vs Baldwin Wallace at Berea Mt Union vs Case at Cleveland Otterbein vs Kenyon at Gambier Wooster vs Oberlin at Oberlin, and Akron vs Hiram at Hiram are the other conference games for Saturday

The Wilmington Quakers look like the short end bet for the Ashland clash at Ashland and the game may be prognosticated for Kent State when it travels to Defiance another big team of the little five

MARION BOYS WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Ray Snyder To Meet Allan Hine, Columbus, in Feature Bout

ARRANGEMENTS for the opening of the 1928 fall boxing season at the Eagles hall on Monday night have been completed Twenty eight rounds of fighting are scheduled to get under way at 8 15 o'clock

A local boy will be in every fight and promoters of boxing in Marion are making an effort to develop a local boy of main go calibre for future cards

Four six round battles and a four round curtain raiser are scheduled

Two local boys will mix it in the preliminary with Ernie Walker local colored chap slated in the next affair to meet Squab Baker of Columbus They will fight at 165 pounds

A change in fighters was made in the third fight In this bout Wilbert Malone of Marion will clash with Eddie Hawsley, of Columbus Their fight is for six rounds at 130 pound

Joe Mussey of Columbus will tangle with Harold Williams of Marion in another six round affair at 128 pounds Mussey is an exceptionally good boy who has been making a fine showing around the capital city

The feature bout will find Ray Snyder Marion meeting Allan Hines of Columbus They are scheduled at 142 pounds, the fight to go six rounds

We have called your attention in previous ads to our Used Car Dept. We have told you that it was different—that we had courteous salesmen — that you would not be obligated to come in and look over our cars —that we had the kind of a Used Car Dept., where you need not hesitate to bring your wife, your mother or your sweetheart—that our cars were as good as good mechanics could make them, and that they looked as good as genuine Duco could make them look. Now we want to add this: If you anticipate buying a used car now —next week or next year—we have a plan whereby you can become the owner of one of our good used cars, "with an O. K. that counts." Don't feel obligated—only by looking and asking questions can you know how easy you may become the owner of an automobile. Again, we sincerely invite your inspection.

Stock Buoyancy Reflects Confidence In Business Outlook

BIG GAIN REPORTED BY STEEL INDUSTRY

Railroad Freight-Car Loadings Establish New Peak for Week

MONEY 6½ PER CENT.

Rally of Favorites Blocked by Profit-Taking Selling

BY W S COUSINS
I N S Financial Editor

New York Oct 10—Buoyancy in the high-priced specialties, the motor shares, oil stocks and a few of the rails on an active market today reflected the prevailing attitude of the financial district over the immediate future of general business. Some of the best market records were made by the speculative favorites of a year's standing which have already doubled and trebled their market values in one of the most spectacular movements of the present period. The rally met with more resistance as the day advanced due to profit taking and speculative selling.

Market interest was largely absorbed in the favorable reports from representative sections of American industry. The steel corporations reported a gain of 75,000 tons in unfilled tonnage during September which was somewhat smaller than expected, but the Iron Age's weekly summary showed a very healthy demand for steel products, with production likely to expand to new peaks. It also reported a strengthening of the price structure, from primary materials to finished products.

Railroad freight-car loadings established a new peak, close to 1,200,000, in the last week reported, a gain of 56,551 cars over the preceding week. The railroads have entered upon their best earning period and the agricultural outputs will bring in a rich return to the American farmer. The call loan rate ruled at 6½ per cent with time funds over the year-end available at 7 per cent.

FALL PRESERVING, PICKLING IS TOLD

Housekeepers with Real Kitchens Still Interested in Stable "Goodies"

Housekeepers who have homes with real kitchens are still interested in doing up preserves and pickles. The need is not as urgent as in past years, yet there are a lot of good things we cannot get in the shops. Many of the dainties are made from old family recipes and the owners feel that their stock of good things are not complete without some of them are added. Some of the following are from the treasured collection of an old New England housewife.

Damson Cheese

The small damson plums are so perior to all others in flavor for our purpose. Wash and remove the stems from a four pound basket of the plums. Put the plums in a large crock and set in the oven, covering closely, to melt and cook tender in their own juice. When tender cool remove the stones and rub through a colander. Measure the pulp and add three-quarters of a pint of sugar to a pint of pulp. Return to the crock and cook until boiled down rich and thick, stirring carefully so that the heavily mass does not burn. Fill warm dry jam pots with the cheese place a cracked kernel on top of each jar, and when cold cover and wax, label and store in a cool dry place.

Tomato Marmalade

Blanch and peel seven pounds of ripe tomatoes and cut them in halves. Slice thinly and remove the pips of six lemons. Melt eight pounds of sugar in a pint of boiling water and boil to a light syrup. Add the lemons and the tomatoes, cook gently and skim well, stirring frequently. When a little tried on a cold plate jells rather thickly, remove from the fire and fill dry hot jam pots. Cover, seal, label and store in dry, cool place.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Eight price variations were reported on local retail markets by dealers today. Four were changes in the price of meats, three of fruit and one of vegetables.

Beyond these changes no new developments of any kind were reported either in the wholesale or retail markets of the city today. All varieties of fruits and vegetables remained scarce with no shipments of any size coming to the city

A survey of local retail markets was made today and it was found that the following seasonal products are now unobtainable: sweet corn, wax beans, green beans, lima beans, chili beans, new peas, chili tomatoes, Ohio grown melons, watermelons, and concord grapes.

Cucumbers went up from three for 15 cents to two for 15 cents and 10 cents each. Pears dropped from two pounds for 25 cents to five pounds for 25 cents. The 99-cent variety of peaches is now exhausted. The cheapest peach obtainable sells at $1 a bushel. The cheaper varieties of apples are also exhausted. Only the finest grade may now be obtained, selling at $1.75 a bushel

Sausage went down from 22 cents a pound to 20 cents. The cheapest grade of lard rose from 14 cents to 14½ cents a pound. Pork liver went down from 22 cents to 20 cents a pound

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

Chicago, Oct. 10—The October government report on grains issued at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon put a decidedly bullish complexion on the corn situation and furnished a hardly less influential incentive for an advance in wheat

On what the estimate of the total crop was 901,000,000 bushels, 3,000,000 more than the estimate last month. But a considerably larger increase was expected

The emphatic bullish factor in the report is that it catches both the corn and the wheat markets in a sold out condition after big profit taking and short sales had driven prices down 2 cents for corn and 3 cents for wheat from the recent tops

Both markets seem likely to open strong this morning and continue on the upgrade all through the session with shorts trying to get in and outside buying broadening out decidedly.

All the grains dropped lower in dull markets yesterday, but the net losses for the day were not large in view of the bearish sentiment that prevailed, and all of them closed with a show of decided strength.

At the end wheat was ¼@⅜c lower; corn was off ½c; oats were off ⅝@⅞c; rye was down ⅝@⅞c.

Corn gave an excellent account of itself. The low for the day on the December future, made a few minutes after the opening, was only three-quarters of a cent under the previous close. As the session advanced the market slowly came back and regained most of its early loss.

Trade from the outside was very light. The impending government report was taken as a warning signal to keep out of the market until it was issued. But local traders sounded corn during most of the session. They got no here.

Quite aside from any consideration of the government report the corn market looked to be in a very strong position, and seemed not unlikely to begin another and decided advance today.

In the cash market wheat was 1 to 2 off; corn was 1 to 3 off, oats were steady to ½ off, rye was 1 to 1½ off, barley was 1 to 3 off.

INCREASE SHOWN

An increase of almost $7,000 over the total for a week ago Tuesday was shown when bank clearings here yesterday totaled $115 682 80, according to a report issued by clearing headquarters in the Marion National bank today. Clearings for a week ago Tuesday amounted to $108 833 41.
